

TITANIC REPORT CENSURES THE CAPTAIN OF THE CALIFORNIAN

SENATE COMMITTEE FILES THE RESULT OF INQUIRY INTO TERRIBLE DISASTER THAT COST SIXTEEN HUNDRED LIVES.

GIVES MANY DETAILS

Colleges All Lives Could Have Been Saved If Signals of Distress Had Been Heeded by Vessel in The Vicinity.

Washington, May 28.—Just before delivering his speech Senator Smith, chairman of the subcommittee that investigated the wreck of the Titanic, submitted the committee's report and its conclusions.

The report largely is a review of the evidence and contains recommendations for legislation. No particular person is named as being responsible, though attention is called to the fact that on the day of the disaster, three distinct warnings of danger were sent to Captain Smith. J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, is not held responsible for the ship's high speed.

In fact, he is barely mentioned in the report. On the whole, the report is unimpressive and Senator Smith in his speech went more fully into a discussion of the causes of the disaster than does the committee's report. The committee agreed on these principal conclusions:

"The supposedly water-tight compartments of the Titanic were not water-tight because of the non-existent condition of the decks where the transverse bulkheads ended. The Californian, controlled by the same concern as the Titanic, was nearer the Titanic than the nineteen miles reported by her captain and her officers and crew 'saw the distress signals of the Titanic and failed to respond to them in accordance with the dictates of humanity, international usage and the requirement of law.' The committee concludes that the Californian might have saved all the lost passengers and crew of the ship which went down.

"Eight ships, all equipped with wireless in the vicinity of the Titanic—the Olympic farthest away, 512 miles.

"The mysterious lights on an unknown ship seen by passengers on the Titanic undoubtedly were on the Californian, less than 19 miles away.

"The full capacity of the Titanic lifeboats was not utilized because while only 767 persons were saved the ship boats could have carried 1,178. No general alarm was sounded, no whistle blown, and no systematic warning was given to the endangered passengers, and it was fifteen or twenty minutes after the collision before Captain Smith ordered the Titanic's wireless operator to send out a distress message.

"The Titanic's crew only meagerly was acquainted with its positions and duties in case of accident, and only one drill was held before the maiden trip. Many of the crew joined the ship only a few hours before she sailed and were in ignorance of their positions until the following Friday.

"The positions so definitely reported to the Titanic says the report just preceding the accident located her on both sides of the line in which she was traveling. No discussion took place among the officers as to whether the ship was in danger. The Titanic's wireless operator to send out a distress message.

"The committee comes to the conclusion that the Titanic lights were visible to the Californian before she struck the iceberg and the Californian must have seen the distress rockets fired from the bridge of the Titanic. It is recommended that all ships carrying more than one hundred passengers have two searchlights, that a revision be made of steamship inspection laws of foreign countries to the standard proposed in the United States; that every ship be required to carry sufficient lifeboats for all passengers and crew, and that the use of wireless be regulated to prevent interference by amateurs, and all ships have a wireless operator on constant duty.

Detailed recommendations are made as to water-tight bulkhead construction on ocean-going ships.

Senator Smith declared that responsibility also rests upon the British Board of Trade, whose laxity of regulation, and whose laxity of inspection, the world is largely indebted for the awful fatality. In denouncing Captain Lord of the Californian, the senator said: "The Titanic's distress signals were plainly seen from the deck of his vessel a short distance away.

America will leave to England the chastisement of those guilty asserted the senator, and he quoted British law to show that Captain Lord might be prosecuted for a misdemeanor.

Other conclusions presented, in brief, were as follows:

Before the Titanic departed on her maiden voyage there were no sufficient tests of boilers, bulkheads, equipment or signal devices.

Officers and crew were strangers to each other and not familiar with the ship's implements or tools, and no drill or station discipline prevailed.

The speed of the Titanic was 24 1/2 miles an hour at the time of the accident, although officers of the Titanic had been advised of the presence of icebergs by the steamships Baltic, Amerika and Californian.

DIRE NEED OF FOOD IN FLOOD REGIONS

Although There Has Been Noted Improvement in Flood Situation Suffering is Still Intense.

New Orleans, La., May 28.—While there has been a general improvement in flood conditions for a week or more in some sections suffering among the refugees has been marked. In Johna District white and black are clamoring for food and Governor Hall who last week took the executive position as governor is making a determined effort to give them relief.

On account of the damage done to the railways supplies cannot be carried by rail into the Johna district.

The Atchafalaya river claimed another victim yesterday when a three-year old boy fell from the railway station platform at Woodside, La., and was drowned.

COFFEE TRUST WINS IN COURT DECISION

Federal Circuit Court of New York Denies Motion For Injunction Against Brazilian Combine.

New York, May 28.—Judge La. Combs, this morning filed the decision of the federal circuit court judges denying the motion for an injunction to restrain the alleged Brazilian coffee cartelization combine from purloining with 350,000 bags of coffee in the warehouse of the New York Dock company in Brooklyn.

Washington, May 28.—The denial of the attorney general's application for an injunction in the coffee trust case will not cause the government to abandon the suit. Attorney General Wickham today declared in the interests of the government would not suffer from the decision. An appeal from the New York court's decision to the supreme court of the United States is being considered.

ITALIAN KILLED IN DUEL WITH A RIVAL

One Man Dead and Chicago Police are Searching for Opponent in Duel For Love of Italian Girl.

Chicago, May 28.—Rivalry for the love of an Italian girl led to the murder of Tony Campanelli, 27 years old, on the south side today. John Torris, 28 years old, is being sought by detectives. The police refused to disclose the name of the woman.

UNCLE SAM READY TO PROTECT AMERICANS

Will Send Marines to Interior of Cuba If It Is Thought Necessary.

Washington, May 28.—The United States is prepared to send marines and blue jackets to the interior of Cuba for the protection of American and foreign interests where necessary and where no Cuban forces are available for that purpose, even though President Gomez should object to such a course.

It is emphatically held at the State department that American marines and navy officers are expected to take such measures as become necessary to protect Americans and foreign plantations. No foreign government has as yet communicated with the United States on the subject of protection of its interest and it is understood this government aims to make such action unnecessary.

The naval transport Prairie which left Philadelphia navy yard Thursday night with 700 marines aboard for the United States naval station at Guantanamo arrived there early today according to a radio report received at the navy department.

Burn Sugar Cane. Santhago, May 28.—A body of insurgents today burned 8,000 tons of sugar cane, many cars and other property on the plantation of Marcus Sanchez, in the vicinity of Guantanamo and belonging to the American Fidelity Company.

ORDERS REFRIGERATOR CAR SERVICE BETWEEN MADISON AND MONROE.

Madison, May 28.—The railroad rate commission today provided the Illinois Central road to provide fast car service during the summer months when the weather condition requires it, twice a week for transportation of perishable goods between Madison and Bellevue and Monticello and Monroe. The company is also ordered to provide heated cars during the winter months, twice a week. The complaints being brought by George E. Madison.

GREEN BAY YOUNG MAN IS ARRESTED IN MADISON.

Madison, May 28.—Fred Amundson of Philadelphia and Cully Thayer of Green Bay, both of whom it is said went under the name of Homer L. Crude, were arrested at the New Park hotel last night after Amundson had passed a check for $25 at the hotel. According to police Amundson confessed to having passed the worthless check and accused Thayer of having written and passed the check.

Both are young men giving their ages as 21 and 18. Thayer's father is assistant chief of the Green Bay Fire Department.

NEW JERSEY RESULT PROBLEMATIC SAY POLITICAL LEADERS

Taft Confident of Victory and Spends Morning in Speech-making—Political News of the Day.

Newark, N. J., May 28.—More than half a million voters in New Jersey today have their opportunity to influence the election of presidential candidates next month at Chicago and Baltimore.

Theodore Roosevelt went to his home at Oyster Bay last night to stay there until after the republican convention except for a trip to Gettysburg, Pa., on Thursday, where he will make a memorial address.

President Taft, however, set out from Atlantic City this morning to make a last appeal to the voters. He will make the last speech of his New Jersey campaign at Glassboro at noon.

New Jersey of late has been a hard state for the political prophet to understand. A large part of the voting population is situated outside of the state in New York and Philadelphia, and the remainder is a large number of truck-drivers and farmers. How these elements will vote today is difficult to predict.

Both the Taft and Roosevelt managers predict a sweeping victory for their candidates.

Senator La Follette's friends declare he will make a good showing. Superb weather, provided during the forenoon. The voting hours from 1:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. have been set for special convenience of the voters. The heaviest vote is expected during the last hours the polls are open.

The opponents of Governor Wilson are confident they will elect "instructed" delegates.

Wilson Leads in Minnesota. Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—Woodrow Wilson has undoubtedly carried Hennepin county by a comfortable majority over Champ Clark for control of the convention which, on Monday, will select delegates to the state convention. It was early morning before sufficient returns were received to base an accurate estimate. Sixty-one of eighty-four heard from in Minneapolis gave New Jersey's governor the majority. Clark's men claim that the precincts outside of the city will more than offset the vote for Wilson in Minneapolis, and that the convention will be about evenly divided.

Bitter Contest On. St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—The Wilson and Clark forces in Ramsey county are lined up for a bitter contest at the state caucuses to be held this afternoon and evening. Both sides are planning for victory at the county convention to be held Wednesday.

In South Dakota. Sioux Falls, S. D., May 28.—The Sioux Falls Press today prints a telegram from Col. Roosevelt, advising that he cannot come to South Dakota on account of his Memorial Day speech at Gettysburg, Pa., but making an appeal to the people for support in the election of delegates to the national convention.

Are Instructed. Chicago, May 28.—The Illinois delegates who have been instructed to vote for Col. Roosevelt for the republican presidential nominee, were invited to visit Oyster Bay next Saturday and discuss the situation with Col. Roosevelt. The invitation came through McMill McCormick, and each of the delegates was sent a telegram from the Roosevelt headquarters notifying him that Col. Roosevelt would be glad to meet him and other friends Saturday at Oyster Bay.

The object of meeting it is said, is to discuss plans for concerted action by the central states delegates in advancing the controversy of Col. Roosevelt and offer aid in securing control of the convention. Creditentials from 300 of the 1078 delegates to the republican national convention have been received by Secretary Hayward of the national committee.

Draft Progressive Planks. Madison, Wis., May 28.—Because of the large number of delegates over nearly 240 delegates, claimed by both Taft and Roosevelt, to be seated in the Chicago convention, National Committee Alfred T. Rogers has decided that the period from June 5 to 10 will be practically consumed by the national committee in settling these disputes. Mr. Rogers said today that he will go to Chicago on June 6 to be present at all the hearings.

At the capital here it is understood that planks for the progressive platform.

TO INVESTIGATE TROCHOMA AMONG MINNESOTA INDIANS

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—The Minnesota state board of health will not concern itself with the prevalence of trochoma among the Indians on the White reservation in this state. This matter is to be brought before the committee on Indian affairs. It has been declared, following a report by Dr. Tallaforte Clark to the executive committee of the state board. Dr. Clark is an expert sent out by the government to co-operate with state officials and who has just completed an investigation on the prevalence of trochoma in this state not only among the Indians but in the public schools.

COMPTROLLER PRENDERGAST IS MUCH IMPROVED TODAY.

New York, May 28.—Physicians attending Comptroller Prendergast who has been ill with acute indigestion noted a marked improvement in his condition today and in a day or so will be removed to his country home at Lakeville, Conn. Mr. Prendergast says he expects to be able to keep his promise to Colonel Roosevelt and make the nominating speech at Chicago.

EXPLOSION CAUSED DEATH OF EIGHTY

Explosion of Motion Picture Machine in Small Spanish Town More Serious Than at First Reported, Theatre Burning.

Castellon de la Palma, Spain, May 28.—The cinematographic explosion which last evening caused the death of 80 persons in a moving picture theatre in the little city of Villavieja was more terrible than at first reported. The theatre was completely burned out and very few of the audience escaped without injury from fire or from crushing in the panic. A large number of the injured are dying. Virtually every family in the vicinity is affected.

MAY DEPOSE MADERO SAYS REPORT TODAY

Unofficial Advice Says Mexican Congress Offers to Remove President if Orozco Will Recognize Them.

Chihuahua, May 28.—Unofficial advice has been received at Gen. Orozco's headquarters that an emissary representing the controlling block of the Mexican congress is on his way here to propose to Orozco that if he will recognize congress the majority of that body in turn will remove President Madero from power.

El Paso, May 28.—Torreon is well defended against rebel attacks according to a message received here early today by E. C. Llorente the Mexican consul who inquired of Albert Aguilar, chief of arms at Torreon, concerning the report that Torreon had fallen.

EASTERN RAILROAD CLERKS ANNOUNCE THEIR DEMANDS.

Boston, Mass., May 28.—The 15,000 clerks employed by Eastern railroads are demanding the establishment of the eight-hour workday, a wage minimum of $2.50, time and a half for overtime, extra pay for holidays, a 15-day vacation annually, and a general wage increase for all of at least 25 cents a day. These demands will form the chief subject of discussion at the biennial international convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, which will meet in this city next week with an attendance of delegates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. The legislative committee of the brotherhood, of which W. E. Bowen of New Orleans is chairman, will meet here tomorrow to complete its report and recommendations.

ILLINOIS MAYORS HAVE CONVENTION IN EVANSTON.

Evanston, Ill., May 28.—The annual meeting of the Illinois Mayors' Association opened here today at the Evanston Theatre for a session extending over two days. The opening session this morning was devoted to the welcoming exercises. After Mayor Joseph E. Padon had delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the city, several of the visiting mayors responded. Then Dr. Frank Billings of Chicago addressed the meeting on the subject of "What Shall We do with our Epidemics?"

Among the other speakers scheduled to address the meetings are Wm. J. Hagenau of Wisconsin, Dean Walter T. Sumner chairman of the Chicago vice commission and Edward Barton, director of the state water survey.

HARDWARE MANUFACTURERS' CONVENTION AT NASHVILLE.

Nashville, Tenn., May 28.—The largest gathering of representatives of the hardware trade ever assembled in this country began in Nashville today and will continue through the greater part of the week. The occasion is a joint convention of the American Manufacturers' Association, which is said to be the largest trade organization in the world, and the Southern Hardware Jobbers' Association. The general program, besides the regular business meetings, includes several social features, among them a trip to the Hermitage, the famous home of Andrew Jackson.

WIDOW OF CAPTAIN KANE MARRIED IN LONDON TODAY.

London, May 28.—Mrs. Woodbury Kane, widow of the late Captain Woodbury Kane, of the Rough Riders, will be married today at the Chapel Royal Savoy to Captain Douglas Howard Gill, of the eighty third battery of the Royal field artillery. Mrs. Gill was Miss Sally Harcourt of New York.

WOMAN COMPLETES HER LONG JOURNEY ON FOOT

Chicago, May 28.—Mrs. David Beach completed a journey on foot from New York to Chicago and delivered to Mayor Harrison a message from Mayor Gaynor. On the journey, which consumed a little more than forty-two days, Mrs. Beach subsisted on uncooked food.

STORM LAST NIGHT DOES DAMAGE AT MARINETTE

Marinette, Wis., May 28.—Heavy electrical storms passed over this city and country last night. The barns of David Conrath and Robert Hurd in the townships of Turtleford and Dover were destroyed with the loss of much stock and machinery entailing a loss of $5,000. Both were set on fire by lightning.

COMPROMISE TARIFF PLAN WAS OFFERED

Senator Newlands Offers Amendment to House Steel Bill to Graduate Reductions on Certain Duties.

Washington, May 28.—A compromise tariff plan designed to graduate reductions to avoid impairing any American industry was offered today by Senator Newlands as an amendment to the house steel bill. It proposes a 10 per cent reduction January 1 on certain duties and a further reduction of 5 per cent January 1 of each year for four years thereafter, until the total reduction of 30 per cent shall have been made. A non-partisan tariff commission of five members appointed by the president would determine to what products the reductions should apply. Senator Newlands said today his purpose was not to endorse the protection principle, but to recognize that protective duties had stimulated industries which must suffer by any radical change.

THIRD MARRIAGE ATTEMPT FOR MRS. BECKY PIERCE.

Woman Once Divorced and With One Marriage Annulled Will Wed New York Oil King.

New York, May 28.—Mrs. Becky Chapman Pierce, who divorced T. H. Chapman of Boston, seven years ago and whose marriage to Roy E. Pierce, son of H. Clay Pierce of the Walker-Pierce Oil Company was annulled last fall will be married tonight. It is reported, to Frank C. Henderson, an oil man of New York and Nowata, Okla. The couple have planned a two years' honeymoon abroad.

Mrs. Pierce has been living at the home of her mother, Mrs. Robert Faulkner, where the wedding will take place. "Lady Becky Faulkner" as she has often been called, belongs to an old Boston family and was for several years on the stage.

$32,500 BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT WON BY MICHIGAN GIRL.

United States Court of Appeals Gives Judgment in Her Favor in Long Standing Case.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—An adjudgment of $32,500 was rendered from the United States court of appeals to Miss Ella Day of Monominee, Mich., on a check of $28,250, which included interest since the verdict was returned in her favor in the fall of 1910 in the suit against James Sanborn of Puckwama, S. Dak., for breach of promise. The suit was bitterly contested for four years and was finally carried to the United States court of appeals. Miss Day was secretary of a lumber concern at Monominee, Mich., and received a salary, resigning on request to marry.

DALLAS ENTERTAINING RED MEN OF TEXAS.

Dallas, Tex., May 28.—Elaborate arrangements have been provided by this city for the entertainment of the hundreds of visitors who have gathered here to attend the annual session of the Great Council of Texas, Improved Order of Red Men, which opened its three days' session here today. At the opening session Mayor W. M. Holland welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city and responses were made by George B. Griggs of Houston, Dr. H. O. Sapping, Grand, Grand Sachem, for the Great Council, and by Grand Senior Sachem W. H. Marsh of Tyler. The memorial address was delivered by the Hon. Wm. H. Atwell of Dallas.

END-OF-THE-MONTH SALES ARE IMPORTANT EVENTS IN EVERY STORE

By J. R. HAMILTON
Former Advertising Manager—Wanamaker's, Philadelphia.

These are the days when every merchant puts his house in order for the coming month. Putting his house in order is a costly process for him and a valuable opportunity for you.

For the law of stores is that the stream of merchandise must be kept flowing pure and sweet and clean from bank to bank. The most dangerous thing with which any store has to contend is the piling up of odd lots and broken lines.

Therefore the wise merchant will sell these accumulations at any cost. That is where the value of these End-of-the-Month Sales comes in for you. If your eyes are quick these next few days you can do a great deal of buying with a very small expenditure.

Every woman, or some representative of every family, should be in the stores during the last days of each month to take advantage of these natural clearances.

It doesn't make any difference to you whether a merchant has six or sixty or six hundred pairs still left of a certain brand of shoes. But it makes all the difference in the world to him. All you want to know is, will any of the pairs that he is trying to clear out, fit you? You are not concerned whether a furniture or rug house needs dealer has one or a hundred pieces of a certain stock so long as you can get the thing you want for less than you ought to pay.

But every merchant in every line has got to clear these things out or his place will soon look like an old curiosity shop.

This is the one kind, uneconomical feature of store-keeping which no one has fully overcome, and the sooner you, the public, learn to take full advantage of these forced sales, the richer you will be.

Nearly every store in America is offering these end-of-the-month inducements right now. Whether they say it in so many words or not the fact remains that they have these odd lots and they have to sell them.

If you watch the advertising pages of this paper for the next few days, if you will study them as a man would study a stock report, and know what you are going after, you will be amazed at the bargains you can secure and at the remarkable purchases you will be able to make.

Every store should be busier at the end of this month than it was at the beginning. Turn to the advertising columns. Read the hundreds of good values that are being offered there and you will quickly see the reason why.

Ancient Game of Tennis.
Tennis is the game of kings. The oldest of existing ball games—it is mentioned in the Arthurian romances—tennis was originally the pastime of the kings and nobles and it was long before its descendant—lawn tennis—became popular with all classes. The game reached England from France and Italy, and by the time of Henry VII we find a royal tennis court at Windsor. Henry VIII was an expert at the game.

TO AGREE ON TERMS OF GRADING SIDING

Mayor Fathers and City Attorney Dougherty Hold Satisfactory Conference With Superintendent Towne.

Concessions by the Chicago and North-Western railway, which will be entirely acceptable to the city were promised at a conference held in Chicago yesterday between General Superintendent Towne and Mayor James A. Fathers and City Attorney W. H. Dougherty, with regard to the respective parts to be taken by the railway and the city in grading the grade of the siding on the west bank of the river so as to provide a satisfactory approach to the new Racine street bridge. Mr. Towne showed himself thoroughly familiar with the local situation, having previously been superintendent of the engineering department and an understanding was reached after a very brief discussion. As a result of the conference it was decided that the council would draw up a formal agreement which will be submitted to the officers of the railway for their approval. This will not introduce anything substantially new but is merely a formality to safeguard both parties and prevent misunderstanding.

Mayor Fathers and City Attorney Dougherty, while in the city, called upon Edward N. Hoyer, general solicitor for the North-Western, and William G. Wheeler, his assistant, both of whom are former Janesvillers. The also called at the office of W. D. Cantillon, but did not find him. They returned to this city early last night.

RAILWAY STATION SCENES DEPICTED IN CARICATURE

Local Band Entertainment at Congregational Church This Evening Is an Event of Interest. If you have ever watched the throngs coming and going in a metropolitan depot, noticed the different classes and peculiarities of the travelers, it is easy to imagine the possibilities of a farce based on the scenes in such a place. The skit, "Scenes in the Union Depot" which will be given at the Congregational church this evening under the auspices of the Local band promises to be one of the best home talent productions of the season. The members of the cast have been practicing for some time past and the caricatures of the various classes of travelers will undoubtedly be laughable from beginning to end.

NOTED SUFFRAGIST READY TO RETIRE

Rev. Anna H. Shaw, the noted suffragist leader, has built a quiet little home near Joyden, Pa., which she holds forth as her home where she is not lecturing. Miss Shaw is sixty years old, and although she hopes to spend many more years in public life, when she does grow tired of it she will know just where she can happily spend the declining years. "Men and women in public life," she said recently, "and it has to be drawn when age makes it wise for interest while the old still call me, and there I shall be happy when I can no longer be active."

Construction of Fourth Avenue Bridge Progressing More Rapidly Since Force Was Increased.

More rapid progress is being made in the construction of the Fourth avenue bridge since the crew that finished work on the Racine street bridge was added to the working force. All the sheet piling has been driven for the west bank abutment, and all the round piling which is to carry the south wing wall, which is fifty feet long. The east wall is thirty-two and the north wall, eighteen feet long. It is expected to have all piling driven and everything ready for the beginning of the cement work in seven or eight days. The force that was transferred from Racine street, is engaged in riveting the steel girders, pulling up the piling that supported the old bridge, and making forms for the concrete floor. Large quantities of gravel have been hauled to the east bank approach to be used for concrete.

SENTENCED BELOIT 'SYRIAN FOR ARSON

Louis Gorman, Aged 19, Given Two Years in Green Bay Reformatory for Setting Fire to His Store, Sunday.

Louis Gorman, a Syrian, proprietor of a confectionery store in Beloit, pleaded guilty to the charge of arson preferred against him in the Beloit municipal court yesterday afternoon, and was sentenced by Judge John H. Clark to two years at hard labor in the state reformatory at Green Bay. Gorman, it was alleged, set fire to his store about 11:45 Sunday evening in order to collect insurance money to pay his bills. The young man, who is about nineteen years of age, had been hard pressed by his creditors, and decided to burn his store as a means of getting out of his financial difficulties. On Thursday evening a small fire was found in the basement of the store, and the suspicions of Chief Nygren of the Beloit fire department were aroused, and he advised the insurance men of the case, and Gorman pleaded guilty. The information was filed yesterday afternoon by District Attorney Stanley Danwidlo.

HORSE THIEF STEALS TEAM AT BELVIDERE

Sheriff W. E. Gorman Notifies Chief of Police Appleby, Giving Description.

Sheriff W. E. Gorman of Belvidere has notified Chief of Police Appleby that a team of horses has been stolen there and that $50 reward is offered for their recovery. They were a pair of nine-year-old geldings, light grey, and weighing from 2100 to 2200 pounds. They stood 15 1/2 hands high. The mare horse had a small wire cut on a front foot, and the off horse dark legs. Both had manes and tails. The buggy was of the Mer manufacture and had green gear, rubber tires, red pole and black neck-yoke. The horse thief gave the name of James Cook and he was forty-five to fifty years old, has dark hair, small mustache, reddish face. He wore a dark suit of clothes and heavy black overcoat, red tie and bow collar.

MISS HARRIET GRIMM LECTURES AT BRODHEAD

Famous Suffrage Speaker Gave Stirring Address to Large Audience—Other Brodhead News.

Brodhead, May 28.—Miss Harriet Grimm, the suffrage lecturer, was greeted by a full-sized audience in Brodhead's opera house last evening. She gave a splendid talk.

May Hold Field Day.
At a meeting of the Commercial club, held Monday evening, it was decided not to celebrate the 4th of July in Brodhead this year. A committee was appointed, however, to look into the matter of holding a field day sometime later in the season.

Personal Items.
Miss Christman of Milwaukee, a former teacher in Brodhead, spent Sunday here.

Miss Mabel Alexander left Monday morning for Kenosha where she will study to become a nurse. Mrs. H. B. Kildow and baby of Milwaukee were over Sunday guests at the A. B. Kildow home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wooster of Janesville spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wooster.

Ernest Tesmer left on Monday on a business trip up into the northern part of the state.

F. L. Seafra was home from Jud over Sunday.

Miss Grace Atwood returned Monday from a visit with Madison friends.

Miss Emma and Berta Mayers were visitors in Janesville Monday.

Miss Goldie Hafford of Burlington arrived in Brodhead, Monday, on account of the illness of her sister, Mrs. A. Koller.

Mrs. Emily K. Smart returned to her home in Mukwonago, Monday, after a few days' stay with Brodhead relatives.

Mrs. Frank Douglas and W. R. Day were visitors in Orfordville, Monday.

Miss Jessie Thompson returned Monday morning from a week's stay with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Switzer, in Chicago.

MATRIMONIAL.

Roessling-Jones.
Miss Louise Roessling, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Roessling, 299 Rock street, was united in marriage to Harold H. Jones of Albany, Wis., at St. Patrick's church at half past six o'clock Monday morning. Dean E. E. Kelly read the marriage service and performed the nuptial mass. Miss Anna Marks of Chicago, niece of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and John Lathers of Beloit, a nephew of the bride, attended the groom. Following the marriage service an elaborate wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the home of the bride's mother. At eleven o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Albany where they will make their home on a farm owned by Mr. Jones. Among those from out of the city who were here for the ceremony were Mrs. H. A. Hurd of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Williams Lathers of Beloit.

Judson Harmon is a lawyer, a politician, a governor, a statesman, a presidential possibility; yes, even more, he is a wonderfully successful engineer. As an engineer he out-Walters Walters, and many, and wonderful are the stories that have been told of his prowess. But Harmon never tells them; he is the most modest of fishermen.

EDGERTON CIGAR COMPANY TO ERECT NEW BUILDING

Work on New Manufacturing Building Was Begun This Morning—Other Edgerton News.

Edgerton, May 28.—The Edgerton Cigar company will build a storage warehouse for their manufactured tobacco business. The size of the building will be 60x22 ft., one story high, drop-proof on outside, and will be erected on the company's lot in the rear of their store. Work on same was commenced this morning.

Edgerton News Notes.
Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Springer were in Brodhead over Sunday with relatives.

Attorney E. M. Ladd had business in Madison yesterday.

The pupils of the seventh grade of the high school are enjoying their annual picnic and outing today on the banks of Rock river.

Sunday afternoon a company of gentlemen and their wives, fifteen in number, went to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wille, where they enjoyed a delightful time and also partook of a good supper.

Sunday afternoon while two young ladies were driving along the Albion road, Andrew Holland's dog came out and scared the horse and he slid to the roadside and went down the steep embankment along the Wray Watson property. The horse, carriage and young ladies rolled down the embankment several feet, but no great damage was done, nor were the young ladies hurt.

Commencement Gifts

In selecting commencement gifts why not commemorate this event—one of the most notable in your child's life—by choosing a diamond? Even a small one coming on that occasion, carries with it a great deal of sentiment, and the recipient will cherish and remember it a lifetime. There are many pretty pieces of diamond jewelry for girls—pins, rings, brooches and things that appeal to the feminine heart. Our stock is complete with them. Come in and ask to see them, you don't have to buy.

Query: What makes America a "melting pot" for the nations? Answer: baseball. At least that appears to be the case up in the Michigan copper country. There all the nations of the earth are gathered, and the one subject in which all are interested is baseball. Witness a recently organized Houghton team. Here is its lineup: Gullio Blumstein, Italian, is catcher; Ed. Hiltunen, Finnish, is pitcher; Stephen Anstee, English, is first base; an American, Louis Jacobs, on second; is a Hebrew; David Vorhies, third and Fred Houghton, shortstop, are French Canadians; Valmar Anderson, right field, is a Norwegian; William Polgraz, center, is a German; and William Finnegan, the left fielder, is from the race that has always produced great ballplayers.

All again point toward the White Sox increasing their lead materially by June 20. Beginning May 25 they are to play 22 games on the home grounds. Conley's team are always hard to beat at home, and this year they're blamed hard to beat anywhere.

President Charles Conley of the Chicago American League has secured the option for $25,000 on the entire membership of the Anderson, S. C. club in the Carolina League. The action is said to have resulted from the remarkable hitting and fielding of members of the club.

The bout between Sid Burns of England and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, which was to have occurred on May 21, will probably be held in June. Burns has a stomach trouble and has been ordered to stop training until June 15, at the latest.

is the same as last year, with the exception that Evansville has the franchise formerly held by Fulton. For the initial games Hopkinsville appeared at Clarksville, Paducah at Cairo and Evansville at Henderson. The season will close Labor day.

BRONSON AND McFARLAND TO BOX AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Hoosier fight fans are looking forward with eager anticipation to the fight to be staged here tomorrow night between Paddy McFarland of Chicago and Ray Bronson, the local fighter. It will be a ten-round affair and will take place in a specially-built arena at the Indianapolis baseball park. The city is now crowded with sport enthusiasts, who have been attracted by the big automobile race of next Thursday, and the promoters of the fight expect to have at least 15,000 spectators at the ringside. Both Bronson and McFarland finished training today and are reported in the pink of condition for the go. It will be their second meeting in the ring. Their first encounter took place in New Orleans nearly three years ago, when they fought 20 rounds to a draw.

Mill is Veteran in Service. Residents along the New York and Connecticut shores of Long Island Sound are familiar with an interesting old mill, still in operation, which was erected at the close of the Revolution and had been in more or less constant operation ever since. Originally power was developed through two undershot wheels which, in course of time, were replaced by turbines. The waters are impounded at high tide in an artificial basin and are released when the tide commences to fall.

REMARKABLE CAREER IN THE PHILIPPINES

To have spent two years in the wilds of Mindanao, the only white man in the district; to have worked among the wild men and cannibals of the mountains who never before had seen a white man, and as a result to have organized forty towns and villages into practically self-governing districts; to have abolished slavery and tribal warfare; this is the exciting adventure which has been the experience of R. A. Gilmore, a former Kalamazoo, Michigan boy, who less than fourteen years ago was a porter in a Kalamazoo hotel. Today he is the first lieutenant of the Philippine scouts, and deputy governor and tribal justice of the district of Davao, in Mindanao.

Willows as Mourning Symbol. The Babylonian willow, with its long drooping branches, has come to be the symbol of mourning the world over. Even in China it is planted as such. There seems to be much authority for believing that it was upon this tree that the Israelites hung their harps before their sorrowing departure from Babylon, whence, perhaps, arose the symbolism of the tree.

GRAND OLD MAN OF BASEBALL RETIRES

By Young. "Cy" Young, the grand old man of baseball, dean of major league players, model of youth, athletic and one of baseball's greatest pitchers and finest characters, probably has worn a uniform for the last time. He may get into form again, but the chances are the other way.

THE GREAT M'FARGL

"Having impersonated Davy Crockett in the west, Alvin Lincoln in the east, and Old Hickory in the south, Col. Roosevelt apparently means to try his hand at Oliver Cromwell in Chicago next June. At least that seems fairly inferable from his message to national committeemen there, as delivered by one Ormsby M'Farrell.

"The great M'Farrell descended on Chicago last week like a thunderbolt, and had this to say in regard to certain tentative and conciliatory talk about Senator Root for temporary chairman:

"You can take it as definitely settled that Senator Root will not precede over the national convention as temporary chairman. Col. Roosevelt is determined that he shall not.

"We propose to organize this convention on lines that would make it very uncomfortable for Mr. Root to assume any conspicuous attitude when the delegates assemble. This is to be a Roosevelt convention and as such there is no room in it for Mr. Root as one of the presiding officers.

"So the new Cromwell seems to loom over the convention, in case it has the presumption to consider itself the republican party convention instead of the Roosevelt personal convention! It will in that case be brought to its senses pretty quick, as Envoy M'Farrell menacingly warns it. Any impertinent tomfoolery about Root or any other undesirable malignant will bring Oliver himself to the hall, and there will be 'Pride's purge' take away that bubble," etc., and maybe dissolution and self-nominating proclamation, all in 'Old Noll's' best style.

"The country has accustomed to gasconade of the above quoted style from the colonel himself. But who the devil is this Ormsby M'Farrell, anyhow? How many cubits high is he, and what number does he ask for when he buys a hat?"

The Milwaukee Sentinel thus discloses one of the new satellites which recently appeared on the political horizon. The atmosphere has been full of old forebodings about what would happen if the republican national committee organized the Chicago convention with old-time regularity. Senator Elihu Root, the man proposed for temporary chairman, seems to be objectionable to Colonel Roosevelt and his friend, M'Farrell, yet Mr. Root is one of the colonel's old-time admirers. The committee represents the republican organization and the convention will not be run in the interests of any individual candidate.

HOARD ON THE INCOME TAX.

"The income tax in Wisconsin is a notable instance of demagogic eloquence and duplicity. 'We will seek it to the business interests,' said one progressive statesman at Madison last winter, 'and that will land us the votes of all laboring men and farmers.'

"All of the legislation that the La Follette faction has given us has been based on that theory. But they overshot the mark with the farmers in the income tax and the muttons are loud and deep with them against such a dishonest and insincere political policy. And now the workingmen are beginning to see in the consequent rise of rents that they must help to pay for this attempt to exploit the property of the state to make politics for the dominant party. It takes time for the voter to see that any line of political action which is based upon class prejudice is sure in the end to punish him worst of all."

As a business man said recently, "The development of Wisconsin hereafter must be along industrial lines, and anything which checks this development is not good for the state."

For that reason, he asserted, all the people of the state were interested in this question of machinery taxation which has created so much of a stir.

Ex-Governor Hoard hits the nail on the head and taxpayers throughout the state will endorse the sentiment expressed. The income tax is proving a boomerang, for while it was intended to hit corporations and "big business," it has also straddled up a hornet's nest among the farmers, a constituency which has heretofore been safely guarded.

While the tax itself may not be burdensome the methods used are annoying. The average farmer has but little time or inclination to keep a set of books, and the amount of farm products fed or consumed is seldom considered. As a result the filing out of an income tax blank is largely a matter of guesswork, which at best is not very satisfactory. The law will require a good deal of explaining for some time to come.

Emancipation is coming by way of Paris in the form of a more liberal use of dress goods in the making of the fall models. While the narrow skirt will predominate for the current season, the autumn has a ray of hope for dress goods makers to the extent of half a yard more per garment.

Next season's suits, says the fashion oracle, will take 4 1/2 instead of 4 yards of cloth. With 10,000,000 wearers taking two suits a year, there will be 10,000,000 yards more to be made in the factories. The larger consumption per capita is probably also only the beginning of a tendency from the one extreme of the hobble skirt to the other extreme of the hoop skirt.

The survey of Rock River with a view to navigation, is on a par with a lot of schemes which masquerade under the shelter of conservation. It is an easy way to spend easy money, and perhaps no more impractical than many of the waterway propositions exploited in the interests of aspiring statesmen. The rivers and harbors bill is always a rathole for money, and the $10,000 appropriated for the present survey is a modest sample of public extravagance.

In Dayton, Ohio, where the National Cash Register company has 5,000 employees, every man voted in the primaries against Taft because of the suit against the cash register people. The people on the street may talk against accumulated wealth, trusts, and big business, but the people at work in the industries cannot be induced to vote for the smashing of the organization when they draw their wages.

The Chicago convention may be an orderly assemblage, and then again it may be something else. The candidate with the "big stick" is already planning to bolt, or force his rival to bolt. If things don't go to suit him, the party needs a climax of this kind to put on the bubbling touches, and most anything is liable to happen when the contending forces meet at close range.

One of the features of the Richardson pure food bill, now pending in congress, is a clause prohibiting the sale of a large number of patent medicines. If the law is passed every physician will need a drug shop to compound his own concoctions. What would family life be without a soothing syrup?

It is estimated that Minnesota and the Dakotas will produce 200,000,000 bushels of spring wheat this year. The crop outlook is improving in all parts of the country.

The coal strike is over and an advance of twenty-five cents a ton is ordered to take effect June 1st. The ultimate consumer seems to be the goat as usual.

Doubly an Agnostic.

Professor Mahaffy was once examining a man who had put himself down as an "agnostic" on entering college. He was having a hard time at Mahaffy's hands over some "crux" passages in a Greek book. "I believe, this," said Mahaffy, "that you are now an agnostic in religious matters."

"The man feebly acquiesced. 'Well, then, this,' said the professor, 'I can quite assure you that you are an agnostic in a Greek at well.'

Speculation.

Most people speculate because they believe there are bigger tools than themselves who will draw the blanks.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS OF VIRGINIA ARE IN SESSION.

Special to THE GAZETTE.

Martinsville, Va., May 28.—Knights of Pythias representing every lodge of the organization in the state are gathered here, many of them accompanied by their ladies, to attend the forty-fourth annual convention of the Grand Lodge of the state. The convention will remain in session three days and the members of the local Patrick Henry Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the citizens in general have arranged an attractive program for the entertainment of the visitors. The principal feature will be a banquet in the Athletic Hall on the fair grounds.

Cleveland, O., May 28.—The annual spring meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers began in this city today. There are about 250 delegates here, and many more are expected before the real business of the meeting is taken up tomorrow. The membership of the society exceeds 3,000, and includes prominent engineers living in all parts of the country.

APPOINT HARRY SMITH REGULAR POLICEMAN

Council at Regular Meeting This Afternoon Ratified Appointment—Regular Business Considered.

The appointment of Harry Smith as a regular member of the police force was announced to the Council by Mayor Fathers this afternoon and promptly ratified. Smith is now serving as a special policeman and recently passed an examination for his new position, conducted by the Fire and Police Commission. His appointment to the force will make it possible to give each patrolman one day of rest a week, an innovation in the police department of this city.

Little routine business came before the meeting this afternoon as most of the regular reports were presented at the first meeting in the month. The usual bills for materials and supplies and for labor at stone crusher and on the streets were submitted and approved and the Clerk directed to draw orders for their payment. A second protest against the improving of Fourth avenue by laying new curbs and gutters was presented. Five signatures were affixed. Attorney William Huger requested more time for the revision of the ordinance, as the printer will not be able to get them published before June 1. An extension was granted.

CARDINALS BREAK EVEN IN DOUBLE BILL SUNDAY

Defeat Afton Team 5 to 0, But Were Outplayed by Knights of Columbus in Five Innings.

The Janesville Cardinals broke even in their double bill played at Athletic Park Sunday afternoon. They did some good work in the first game and downed the Afton Giants by a score of 5 to 0, but in the succeeding clash with the Knights of Columbus, who they were behind 2 to 0 when the rain drove them from the field in the fifth inning.

BOY BATHER IS SWEEP OVER MONTGOMERY DAM AND NEARLY DROWNED

Fred Hines Had Thrilling Experience Sunday Morning—Dog Carried Down the River.

Fred Hines, a young man twenty years of age, narrowly escaped drowning Sunday when he was swept over the Montgomery dam in his attempt to swim across the river near the bridge. Only his presence of mind and endurance saved him, for he was obliged to swim a long distance before he could reach shore. His pet dog that accompanied him on his swim was also carried over the dam, and as far as the blind institute before it could get ashore.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Sunday Train: The special Sunday service over the Northwestern railroad, running the Sunday only train between this city and Fond du Lac, and stopping at Koshkonong, Port Johnson, Watertown and other points will be instituted next Sunday instead of June 3, as was originally intended. The train will carry a part of the crowd attending the German Saengerfest at Oconomowoc, which a number from this city will attend.

Still Higher: The Rock river level at this point had reached 19 1/2 inches at seven o'clock this morning, but dropped an inch inside of an hour.

Memorial Service: In keeping with the recommendations of the general conference to all Methodist churches, there will be a memorial prayer service at the Carthage Methodist church Thursday evening at 7:30. All are invited. Short patriotic addresses.

Some evening this week another attempt will be made and try and get together the members of the Alumni association. They held a meeting about a week ago and only five members were present. It is very important that all the members who could attend be there. There is the annual banquet which is to be held, it cannot come off unless some of the members attend the meeting so a committee can be selected. They also must elect officers for the coming year. It is urged that a large crowd be in attendance at the next meeting or else it will have to be dropped.

MARSHALL J. FISHER
DIED LAST EVENING

Respected Evansville Business Man
Passed Away After a Lingering Illness.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Evansville, May 28.—Marshall J. Fisher passed away at his home on Church street, at 10:30 o'clock last evening after a lingering illness which had confined him to his home since last November. Mr. Fisher was sixty-two years of age and had lived in Evansville for twenty years or more. He was the senior member of the real estate firm, Fisher & Gilles, and one of the city's prominent and respected business men. He had many friends here and in the neighboring country.
Besides his wife he leaves three sons: Max and Clyde, who compose the firm of Fisher Bros.; and Leslie Fisher who is still in school. Funeral announcement will be made later.

ENGINEER FELLOWS HAD LONG SERVICE

Former Evansville Man Had Been in Employ of C. & N. W. Road
37 Years—Relatives in Evansville.

Evansville, May 28.—J. E. Fellows, who was killed on the C. & N. W. railroad as he was pulling out of Chicago Monday morning, was a cousin of Henry Fellows, Mrs. Ray Gillman, Mrs. C. Scollard and Mrs. George Lee of this city.

As Mr. Fellows was crossing an interlocking switch it broke and turned the wheels on one side of the engine onto one track and those on the opposite onto another which tipped the engine over and Mr. Fellows was scalded to death.

Mr. Fellows had been engineer on the C. & N. W. road for thirty-seven years, and as a boy, he carried water and spikes for the company while they were building the road through Evansville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eaden of Clinton had thrilling experience on Sunday Afternoon Drive.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Clinton, May 28.—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eaden, while out riding north of Shopiere, Sunday afternoon, had a very thrilling experience. Seeing that the storm was fast overtaking them they drove into the yard of Ralph Howard, and Mr. Howard and entire family with the exception of but one son, had taken refuge in the cellar of their home, thinking that a cyclone would result. Mr. and Mrs. Eaden had just time enough to drive under a shed when the storm reached them.

A large door was blown off the granary high in the air and came whirling down just in front of Mrs. Eaden. Part of the roof was blown off from over their heads. It was a very close call and they were some time recovering from the shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Helen Cooper yesterday morning received cable announcing the birth of Miss Lola Genevieve Shattuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Shattuck, of Bound Brook, New Jersey, May 20.

Poormaster Geo. Seemiller of Beloit was here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Behnold and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Decker and daughter, Ruth, of Jannett, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Peterson over Sunday.

Mrs. P. J. Lawth of Jannett was here yesterday and attended the meeting of the Twentieth Century club.

The Twentieth Century club held their last business and privilege meeting at the home of Mrs. S. G. Smith, the president of the club, last evening. The afternoon was spent in social intercourse. Mrs. Warren favored the club with a very fine rendition of "Henry Van Skiver's" "Lost World." After a very fine supper the ladies elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. D. G. Smith; secretary, Mrs. B. P. Reese; treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Northway.

TITANIC REPORT CENSURES CAPTAIN OF THE CALIFORNIAN

Monday morning a message from their office, officially advised containing the positive assurance of the safety of the passengers was sent to a half-crazed father at Huntington, W. Va., nearly two hours after their admitted familiarity with the details of the disaster. It is little wonder that we have not been able to fix, with definiteness the author of this falsehood.

Senator Smith reviewed the testimony of Captain Lord, showing that the Californian came within four miles of the doomed vessel and that he went to his room to lie down with signal rockets were being fired.

"Failure of Captain Lord to arouse the wireless operator on his ship, who really could have ascertained the name of the vessel in distress and reached her in time to avert loss of life," said Senator Smith.

"Contract, if you will, the conduct of the captain of the Carpathia in this emergency and imagine what must be the consolation of that thoughtful and sympathetic mariner, who rescued the shipwrecked and left the people of the world his debt as his ship sailed for distant seas a few days ago."

"The failure of foreign steamships to carry searchlights is utterly inexcusable, and if a proper searchlight had been upon this vessel, in my judgment, the accident could have been avoided. The failure to supply the proper officers with binoculars was unquestionably an act of negligence, especially as I gather from the testimony that a demand had been made by the proper officers for them, and the demand had been refused."

"There was not the proper attention paid to the wireless messages that the ship received. This appears to me to have been an inexcusable act of negligence."

"The speed of the vessel was not lowered, as it should have been, when notice was received that she was in a dangerous zone. My own judgment, therefore, is that there was negligence in this case and that the disaster was attributable to the want of due care upon the part of the commanding and of those in charge of the ship. The proper tribunals will determine upon this question unaffected by any conclusion that we may arrive at in the premises."

"The speed of the vessel was not lowered, as it should have been, when notice was received that she was in a dangerous zone. My own judgment, therefore, is that there was negligence in this case and that the disaster was attributable to the want of due care upon the part of the commanding and of those in charge of the ship. The proper tribunals will determine upon this question unaffected by any conclusion that we may arrive at in the premises."

"On this point the senator said: 'We live to a large extent today defying the ordinances of God, and the sooner we awaken to a realizing sense of our responsibility the better it will be for the spiritual elevation of the country. We are running mad with the lust of wealth, and of power, and of ambition. We are separating society into casts, with fabulous fortunes upon the one side and destitution and poverty on the other. It takes a terrible warning to bring us back to our moorings and our senses. We are abandoning the devout and simple lives of our ancestors and the fabric of our civilization is weakening at the foundation. If this disaster teaches no lesson or points no moral then let us pass it by with stoical indifference, until the next disaster comes, and in the meantime let the carnival go on. Stay the heart-rending scenes upon this night of anguish and of woe give us faith and lead us back to the altars of our fathers. I will not rehearse the agonies of this midnight sacrifice. I can not afford to dwell upon them or listen to the details that almost distract the mind and break the heart. It is the lesson and the moral that I am searching for.'"

Senator Rayner urged legislation that would make the controlling off-

cers of corporations continually responsible for the careless and negligent management of the corporation they control. After a discussion of the present methods of corporation organization, Senator Rayner said:

"There is another lesson that this disaster teaches us and which ought to be one of general application, and that is the lesson of corporate responsibility. We must enact legislation that will make the controlling and superior officers of corporations within our own jurisdiction criminally responsible for the careless and negligent management of the public-service corporations which they control. I have made this suggestion over and over again, and I repeat it now in the most emphatic way that I can, that it is a shame and an outrage that the criminal statutes of this land permit the men who are really responsible absolutely to escape from the penalties of the law, and inflict penalties and punishments upon those who are simply acting under their superior orders."

Discussing the causes of the disaster, the senator said: "It seems to be universally conceded that this ship was not equipped with a sufficient number of lifeboats to provide for the safety of its passengers. There may have been a sufficient number in accordance with the rule of the British Board of Trade, but it is a conceded fact that the great loss of life occurred because there was an insufficient number to meet the necessities of the case and rescue the passengers and crew."

"The failure of foreign steamships to carry searchlights is utterly inexcusable, and if a proper searchlight had been upon this vessel, in my judgment, the accident could have been avoided. The failure to supply the proper officers with binoculars was unquestionably an act of negligence, especially as I gather from the testimony that a demand had been made by the proper officers for them, and the demand had been refused."

A very charming woman is Mrs. Pezet, wife of the Ambassador from Peru. They have been in Washington but a short time.

Hard to Corner Sheridan. Richard Brinsley Sheridan was visiting at a country house, where a venerable spinster bored him with her attentions. She wanted to be his companion on a walk through the park, but he excused himself, saying the weather was too bad. Later she intercepted him as he was about to leave the house alone. "Well," she said, "it has cleared up, I see." "Why, yes," replied Sheridan, "it has cleared up enough for one, but not enough for two."

Use for Murderers. The abolition of capital punishment for murder has not borne such fruits in states where it has been tried as to create any great enthusiasm for the change. "The people are inclined to say with the witty Frenchman, 'Let the murderers set us an example.'"

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PAYSON TERNUM

CHARLES R. CURTIS.

This is a story that begins in a wigwam and ends in the capitol at Washington—the story of a "redskin" who has risen high in the councils of the government with whom his race have warred—the story of the first Indian senator—Charles R. Curtis, who was once jokingly called "the only American in the United States senate."

Curtis was born in a tepee of the Kaw tribe, in Kansas, in 1860. His mother was a Kaw woman and his father a French officer. Left an orphan at the age of three, the future senator spent his early boyhood in the wigwam of his mother's people near Council Grove, Kan. One of his first recollections is the sight of a galloping, painted war party of Kaw braves dashing forth to battle against their foes, the Cheyennes.

Soon after this time he was sent to Topeka to school. But he was too used to the free outdoor life of an Indian youth to relish the confinement of a schoolroom. Moreover—according to white man's standards—he was poor; and he found it necessary to turn his hand to some means of livelihood.

A Jockey and a "Bad" Horse. He went to work as a newsboy; then as a peanut vendor; then as a bootblack. But none of these jobs promised wealth nor even an especially comfortable living. So he sought for better work. Here his boyish experience in riding bareback the wild Kaw broodmares stood Curtis in good stead. And when his chance came he was ready for it. He obtained a job in a racing stable as a jockey, and rode many a winner. He and the veteran jockey Fred Tural struck up a warm friendship in those race track days.

The Kansas City Interstate Fair association was holding a meet in 1877. One of the horses entered for a certain race was known to be very speedy, but had a bad way of bolting and becoming unmanageable when overtaken. Hence he was looked upon as a sure loser. Curtis—a slender, black-haired, dark-skinned wisp of a lad—was assigned to ride this "crazy horse." Unlike the usual story book hero he did not "win the race against fearful odds." On the contrary, the horse hurled him against a high board fence with such force as to leave scars which the senator still bears. This practically ended the young Indian's racing career.

He next became a hack driver. While he was working at this unattractive trade he became smitten with a longing for better education. He took to studying law in his spare moments. While waiting for "fares" he was forever delving in some musty law book he had borrowed. It was during this time that he managed to forget the Indian dialect of his mother's people; because his white friends laughed at him for his use of the uncouth speech. Today he remembers scarce a phrase of the ancestral language.

Two years after he gave up racing Curtis was admitted to the bar. A little while afterward he had made good a start in politics that he was sent as delegate to a near-by convention. At twenty-four he was prosecuting attorney of Shawnee county, and in 1890 was an unsuccessful candidate for congress.

But in 1892 he made the congressional fight again in a "whirlwind campaign" as vigorous in its way as any waged by his warlike ancestors on the plains. And this time he was elected to congress.

From Topeka to capitol; from jockey to senator; from the ranks of Uncle Sam's hereditary foes to a place among the government's foremost lawmakers! It is a record that well entitles its owner to high rank among "Famous Indians."

Scared Several Business Men. "I heard a good one on the news-papers today," said Alderman William Coleman to a crowd of aldermen and newspaper men in the city hall.

"The editor of a small paper in this state was scandalized at the behavior of a business man in his town who posed as a moral and upright citizen and a pillar of the church. So the editor, to put a stop to it inserted an advertisement in his paper that read like this: 'If that business man who hoes and kisses his typewriter every day doesn't stop it right away we will print his name in our paper.'"

"The very next day a dozen of the most substantial business men in the place called on the editor and told him that he shouldn't listen to every thing people talk about. As each departed he left behind a good volume advertisement."—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Don't Try To Make Ice Cream

Don't, through a mistaken idea of economy, attempt to make ice cream at home when by just sending or phoning to a store in your immediate neighborhood you can have in any quantity from one pint to gallons delivered promptly, just when you want it.

Don't fret and stew in a hot kitchen preparing a "custard" as laid down in the cook-book; don't numb your fingers with the ice pick, don't wear out your good nature turning a freezer when for a mere trifle you can select from several flavors and get a really delicious frozen confection that is made from pure cream, sugar and high grade flavoring extracts by expert ice cream makers in an absolutely sanitary factory.

Just step to the telephone and call your nearest dealer, tell him what kind of cream and how much, and he delivers it in a jiffy—he's glad to do it.

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general illness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. E. A. Thell, Manvel, N. D., and Mrs. Henry Jensen, Granton, Wis., the only laxative given is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative and its very mildness and freedom from gripping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

LIVESTOCK PRICES INCLINED TO WAVER

Hog Market Was Slow and Demand For Sheep Was Poor Except For Best Offerings.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, May 28.—There was a tendency toward inactivity in the livestock market this morning. Demand for hogs was slow and prices remained unchanged from yesterday. Sheep had a poor demand and prices were correspondingly weak with the exception of the best grades which met with high prices. The cattle market was fairly steady although trading was generally quiet and receipts light according to the usual Tuesday run. Prices for today are given as follows:

ORANGES FEATURE OF THE LOCAL MARKETS TODAY.

Extra large navels are the feature of today's fruit market, these oranges are of unusual size for this time of the year. The strawberries which took such a sudden increase in price yesterday have dropped again and are at their normal price. The string beans which have been extra good for the past few days are still fine. The cost of almost everything on the local market is decreasing as local vegetables come in. The prices of today's market are as follows:

Vegetables—Asparagus, 11, 12, 10c bunch; fresh carrots, 8c bunch; new potatoes, 7c lb; extra Yellow Onions, 8c lb; new cabbage, 15c lb; lettuce, 5c bunch; head lettuce, 12 1/2c head; celery, 6c, 8c bunch; parsley, 5c bunch; radishes, round, 5c; long white, 5c; long radishes, 5c bunch; turnips, 5c bunch; yellow string beans, 15c 2 for 25c; small cucumbers, 5c; hot-house cucumbers, 15c, 2 for 25c; fresh tomatoes, 15c lb; 11, 12, 10c plant; 5c bunch; fresh spinach, 15c, 2 for 25c; green onions, 2 bunches 5c; green peppers, 5c each; vegetable oysters, 5c bunch; 11, 12, 10c; watermelons, 5c bunch; green peas, 12c lb; beets, 15c bunch; white Silver Skin onions, 8c.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS WILL PARADE IN ELGIN.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

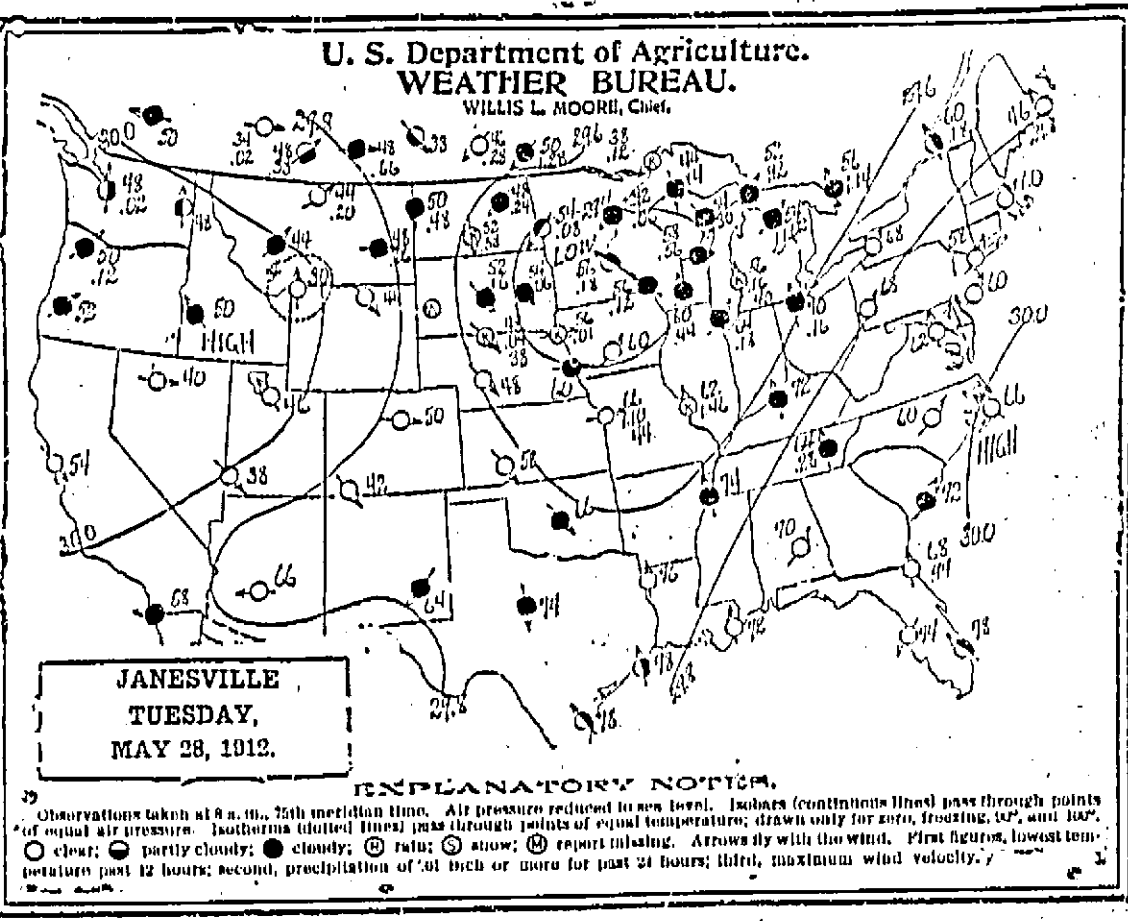

Elgin, Ill., May 28.—Sunday school workers from every section of the state are in attendance at the fifth annual state convention of the Illinois Sunday schools, which opened here today for a session extending over three days. Bishop Samuel Paltow and many noted church and Sunday school workers are among the speakers scheduled to address the convention and to participate in the institute arranged for every one of the three days. The spectacular feature of the convention will be the big parade of the organized men's class on Thursday evening.

Elks at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 28.—The city has delivered its keys to the Elks who are gathered here from all parts of the state to attend their annual state convention and for two days the jolly visitors will be royally entertained by the citizens. The delegates from Pine Bluff are working hard to have Pine Bluff selected as the place for the state convention of 1913.

Veterans Observe Anniversary.

New York, May 28.—The surviving Civil war veterans of the Twenty-second New York Regiment, numbering less than three-score, paraded Fifth Avenue and Broadway this afternoon in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the departure of the regiment for the front in '62.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.
Observations taken at 8 a. m., 2nd meridian time. All pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (contours) lined pass through points of equal air pressure. Isobars (contours) lined pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 50°, and 100°. Clear; partly cloudy; cloudy; rain; snow; report missing. Arrows show the wind. First figure, lowest temperature past 12 hours; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The barometric depression over the North Central States is drifting rapidly eastward. It has been attended by showers and thunderstorms from the upper St. Lawrence valley to the Pacific coast, and as far south as Missouri. The precipitation was especially heavy at St. Louis where 1.36 inches fell, at Kansas City, with 1.10 inches, and at Edmonton in northern Alberta where 1.21 inches was recorded in the past twenty-four hours. The temperature continued high yesterday on the southern slope of the Rockies. A maximum temperature of 102 degrees was reached at Abilene, Tex.

Original of Sam Weller.
The original of Sam Weller was Sam or Samuel Vale, who was well known as a London comedian who acted in the farce called "The Boarding House" and subsequently at Covent Garden theater. Sam Vale was noted everywhere for the Wellerisms, such as "Come on, as the man said to his tight boot." "I'm down on you, as the extinguisher said to the candle." "Where shall we fly, as the bullet said to the trigger," and "Let everyone take care of themselves, as the dunkey observed when dancing among the chickens." Sam Vale died in 1848.

Formation of Icebergs.
The proportion of an iceberg which will be under water is determined by comparing the density of the ice with that of the surrounding sea water. The densities of ice and sea water are nearly .92 and 1.03, respectively, from which it can be calculated that only about one-ninth of the berg's bulk is visible above the surface. No iceberg could float with one-third of its actual bulk out of water, but if it were irregularly formed, with peaks, it might seem to be much less than eight-ninths submerged.

Bees Were Too Busy.
The mystery of the stopping of the town clock at Newton, N. J., was solved after two days' investigation when three "little busy bees" were found on one of the delicate pieces of mechanism of the big timepiece. No doubt trying to "improve each shining hour."

If He Bets.
The man who is always positive that he is right loses many bets.

Industry Coming into Its Own.
Guayule was for years overlooked or despised; its rubber content was considered of little or no value, and when at last acknowledged this was said to be inferior to other rubber because it did not come from the tropics. Yet in spite of all guayule has become an important source of rubber supply, millions of dollars have been invested in the industry. Factories have been erected close to the guayule fields and towns have grown up for the operatives and field laborers.

Power of Gold.
Those who worship gold in a world so corrupt as this we live in have at least one thing to plead in defense of their idolatry—the power of their idol. It is true that, like other idols, it can neither move, see, hear, feel nor understand; but, unlike other idols, it has often communicated all these powers to those who had them not, and annihilated them in those who had. This idol can boast two peculiarities: it is worshipped in all climates, without a single temple, and by all classes, without a single hypocrite.—Colton.

FURNITURE FOR OUT-DOOR LIVING

The porch takes the place, to a large degree, of the indoor living room, the library and even the bedroom, during the heated half of the year.

Porch Furniture is an item of much greater importance than it was a few years ago. People recognize more every year the importance of the summer out doors.

We've recognized this important new demand more this year than ever before and have prepared a splendid exhibit of exceptional attractiveness.

Willow furniture is light and not affected by dampness. Crex furniture is waterproof. Fibre furniture will stand ages of weather. Reed furniture is splendid for porch service. Prices are very moderate. Investigate them as quoted by this store.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

Are You Prepared for Memorial Day?

WE look up with pride to the great leaders who have played such important parts in the making of our Nation's history. We honor also the memories of those in the ranks who gave their loyalty and their lives to their country's cause.

In these less strenuous days, less heroic means are required to gain the world's respect. Not the least of these is regard for personal appearance. Good clothes are a dividend paying investment, because success meets half way the man who dresses the part.

Many of the hustling, energetic, well groomed men you meet every day are wearing Golden Eagle All-Wool Clothes. It's proof of their keen, sound business judgment, too. Able to pay more, they prefer to buy Golden Eagle Clothes at $10 to $25, because in these clothes they get the fit, style and service usually found only in clothes at higher prices.

Pure wool, top-notch tailoring, lasting shape, satisfactory wear and service are all guaranteed in Golden Eagle Clothes. They make good. They will help you make good.

WOMAN'S PAGE

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Going a Little Mad at Forty

A WELL-KNOWN writer has said that at forty, every woman goes a little mad. And by this, the writer meant that when a woman discovers gray hair creeping in, and a double chin appearing, and her complexion getting dull and lifeless, and her figure taking on curves unpleasant to the eye, she does lose her head a bit, and rushes around frantically to see what can be done to restore the appearance of youth, even though the thing itself is gone.

She begins privately to look into the subject of hair dyes. She becomes a visitor at beauty parlors. Straight fronts and hipless models enlist her attention. With some women, in a short time, the frenzied passions, and with a sigh, they accept the inevitable. With others, with the passing of time, the madness takes more violent form, and shows itself in peroxide tresses and applications of rouge.

It is difficult, as we see youth departing, not to make a frantic clutch to retain it. And we should do all we can to make our appearance as charming to the eye as possible. The well-dressed, well-proportioned woman of middle age is surely more pleasing than the woman who grows careless and frowny with the advance of years. But when this madness of forty seizes us, we should try to hold ourselves well in hand. Instead of resorting to hair dye and the rouge pot, we will be more charming if we cultivate those graces of mind and manner which youth too often lacks. Mental and spiritual beauty is as attractive, many think more so, than physical beauty; and if the woman of forty would add these to her equipment, she need not dread the passing of youth. She will find she has just as many friends, that she is just as well liked, that life holds just as much good for her, as it did when younger. Indeed, it may hold more, for she is better able to tell the gold from the dross.

And it is also to be noted that the writer said: "The woman of forty," not the man.

You seldom see a man of forty worrying about his bald spot or the increasing rotundity of his figure. Not but that many men would be more pleasing to the eye if they did give a little more thought, as they grow older, to their personal appearance. But at any rate, few lose about it. And this is because they have absorbing interests in life, because they believe they are doing work necessary to the world's welfare. To others, it may not seem so very important; but to them, it is. And so this period of forty passes them without finding them worrying over wrinkles and a capacious waistcoat.

And in this, too, is a gift for the woman who finds herself in a frenzy at forty. Let her give some attention to her appearance. But instead of making life a nightmare in a mad chase for beauty that cannot be restored, let her cultivate those graces of mind and spirit that add enduring beauty, and let her get for herself some absorbing interest in life. When the ex-coming of so-called age will scarcely be noted, and it surely will bring no dread. Life will be filled by the passing of the years, not emptied. Greater development and increased knowledge will come, until the chrysalis breaks and we pass on to another existence with powers ready for new growth.

A Woman's Observations

By Edna K. Wooley.

TAKE YOUR GARDENING EASY.

Do you notice how the vegetable gardens are "looking up" since the women have become interested in the soaring prices of vegetables. The seed stores are overwhelmed with women customers who want vegetable seeds, and the 10-cent stores have already sold out all their 10-cent shade hats, while in an increasing number of back yards one sees familiar forms variously garbed, including with rakes and hoes.

In the "house for rent" advertisement one sees this sort of thing now: "Wanted—House with large lot." And these who have places to rent are specifying the size of the lot that goes with the house. It's all a result of the gardening fever.

Even the inmates of the big, gloomy-fronted houses in streets near the downtown district are interested in home gardening produce, as you will observe if you take the trouble to peep into their back yards, where you will see unexpected acres of carefully raked soil with faint green things beginning to define the rows of good things to come.

"The only thing I don't like is that I got so dirty," complained a young woman who has taken up gardening for a tad this year. "I put on a nice trim housedress and the first thing I know I'm covered with dirt and perspiration. My goodness, I don't it make you sweat!"

One young person has solved the problem to dress to her own satisfaction. She has hunted up a pair of bicycle bloomers, and now, if you get up real early in the morning and happen around her neighborhood, you may see her plump self industriously getting back to the soil.

"First I thought of overalls," said she, "and I got a pair, but they weren't at all comfortable. I couldn't get them wide enough in the hips. So I fell back on the bloomers. Now I don't have to bother about skirts at all, and if anybody doesn't like my looks they can go and look somewhere else."

Gardening work heats one up, especially when one is not accustomed to physical exertion. Therefore, be very careful not to take cold after an hour or so of perspiring in the strenuous occupation. It is a good idea to change one's clothes, underwear and everything, for fresh dry apparel, before sitting down to rest. A good brisk rub with a coarse towel after a quick sponge off with tepid water will be found beneficial before donning fresh clothes.

"Take your gardening easy. Don't wear yourself out over it. What you don't plant today can be planted tomorrow and will grow just as well. Make it a recreation, not a task. And don't undertake too big a space. A small garden carefully tended that is more than a large one that is neglected.

The Kitchen Cabinet

THE kitchen should contain only two chairs; a very comfortable one for the nurse and a very uncomfortable one for visitors who stay too long.

HELPFUL HINTS.

The grated rind of oranges makes fine flavoring for cakes and fillings. If dried it will be nearly as good.

Add a tablespoonful of vinegar to tough chicken or any stewed meat; the flavor will not be noticed and the vinegar will soften the tough fibers of the meat.

Nice buttons should never be left on a shirt waist that is sent to the laundry, or even done at home. Boiling does not improve the luster of a handsome button.

During the lovely summer days, those who have mending and sewing, should get it ready, doing all machine work at odd times so that the sewing may be done out of doors in the lovely June weather.

For those of the many housewives who have to depend on inferior cream, the use of viscogen is a boon. Viscogen is not found in the store, but is easily made, and if kept in the dark will keep for years.

The resourceful woman has learned that by adding to her work she learns it, that is by preparing a larger quantity of food that is keepable, which takes no longer than to prepare a small amount, she saves herself much work.

Spoon for flavoring soup, called a "soup bag," are made with three cloves, six pepper corns, four mustard seeds, three branches each of parsley, thyme and basil, a fourth of a teaspoonful of celery seed. Tie all these in a round of cheesecloth.

On the days when the work is lightest is the time the forehand woman provides for the future, getting raisins ready for cakes or puddings, breaking the macaroni and grating the cheese, so that it may be quickly prepared when the time for it comes.

When using a thin cream which refuses to whip, add a fourth of a teaspoonful of the viscogen to three-fourths of a cup of cream; stir well while adding, and then whip as usual. The results will well repay one for the trouble of making the viscogen.

To make viscogen dissolve five ounces of sugar in ten ounces of water. Add six ounces of cold water to two ounces of quicklime, and let it gradually shake, then strain through a fine sieve, and combine the two liquids and shake occasionally for two hours. Set the mixture aside to settle, then pour off the clear liquid. Store in small bottles with tight corks, as the liquid absorbs carbonic acid from the air, which darkens it and reduces its strength.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

BRINGING UP CHILDREN BY THE PENDULUM.

A FATHER who was undoubtedly spoiling his children by the lavishness with which he anticipated their every desire, was warned by a friend that he was being unkind in his effort to be very kind.

"Well, you see," he answered, "when I was a boy, my father was very close with me, and I was always being left out of things because I didn't have the money, although he made up my mind that if I ever had any children, they should have everything that money could buy if I could possibly get it for them."

With an air of evident pride, and an obvious belief that he had justified himself, this foolish man made this foolish explanation. And yet, as a business man, he has a great reputation for keenness and far-sightedness.

Without doubt there are more children spoiled by the pendulum method than any other way.

What do I mean by the pendulum method? Why, just what this man was doing: feeling from one extreme of child training to another.

"I am the product of my grandmother's belief in training girls to be good housewives, whether they liked it or not," says a woman who is singularly helpful in regard to the simplest housework. "She was so strict and severe with my mother that mother said we should never be forced to do anything about the house. And should not! I can tell you my daughter is going to be a good housewife if she doesn't learn her A B C's."

Another woman, whose brain has been developed at the expense of her body, declares that she is determined to have her children make the best of their bodies and let their brains take care of themselves.

A man, whose mother enforced strict church attendance upon him all through his minority, says that he will never even ask his boys to go inside a church.

And so it goes. Because we have suffered from one extreme we must make our children suffer from the other.

Take it home. You mean to be the best father or mother that ever lived, but is your zeal eating up your discretion? Are you bringing your children up by the pendulum method?

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I sent away for a lingerie hat, and when it came the crown and the rim were separate, each being as large as the other, except that the rim is scalloped. I don't understand just how to put the hat together, and would like your help. Also tell me whether pink or blue ribbon would look best on it. I have a pale complexion and little color, blue eyes and dark hair. My face is rather thin. Can you tell me a pretty way to fix my hair? I have a small face and find it difficult to fix my hair to suit it.

Obtain a wire frame for your finger but, line the under side of the rim with net or point d'esprit and edge with lace. Then place the finger rim over rim of frame. Slip the lingerie crown, tam, or skimmer style, and fit over the crown of the frame. I suggest blue ribbon for trimming. It is hard to advise you as to your hair, even with the help of your description, but I think it would be a good plan to study the illustrations in one or two good women's magazines which show styles. Try some of the ways illustrated until you find a plan that suits you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been using a peroxide cream for two or three months, but since I have used it a number of moles have come on my face. Do you think the cream is the cause? Will you please tell me how to get rid of the moles?

A READER.

The cream may be to blame; at any rate I would consult a dermatologist. The only safe way to get rid of moles is to have them removed with the electric needle. If you have such work done, be sure to go to an expert. A novice or a quick might injure your face still more.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I wish to give a dinner in honor of my ninth wedding anniversary. Please suggest a simple menu, as I want to have the dinner at my mother's house. Is this at my mother's cotton wedding?

MRS. MINNIE AL.

I suggest for the principal dishes, roast chicken, peas, mashed potatoes, sweet pickles, apple or custard pie, cheese and coffee. The ninth anniversary is not marked by any special observance. The tin wedding comes on the tenth anniversary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young widow and my husband has been dead two years. I am still weeping morning and not going out much. How long should I wear black, and should I accept company of gentlemen friends while still in mourning?

The practice of wearing mourning is not followed as much as formerly, and six months is considered long enough to appear in black. You have surely waited long enough to leave off mourning. As for accepting attention from men friends, it is a matter entirely for your own discretion.

Speak kindly. In our speech we would only consider how our words will affect those to whom they are spoken—if we would try to hear them with their ears and consider how they affect hearts, there would not be much passionate or unadvised speech; certainly there would be few spirits wounded or lives embittered by the words of our lips.—W. G. Horder.

It is hardly possible to have too many drawers in a kitchen. The housekeeper will find use for all that are provided and the same thing applies to shelving, but shelves should be inclosed with glass doors for "it is the little foxes that spoil the vines" and open shelves collect dust and are uncleanly and troublesome.

Certainly utensils are needed in every kitchen, the more ingenious the housekeeper the fewer the number required; the very best materials are the cheapest. Double plate tinware, warranted porcelain, and strong, solid earthenware will cost more at first but it will last ten times as long as cheaper ware. Aluminum utensils are slightly when new but require constant attention and while a few utensils of this ware are necessary are not advised. No kitchen will hold all the helpful inventions found in house furnishing stores nor would any woman want them all, but labor saving inventions are not luxuries for the whole family.

Knowledge is the Balance Wheel. Zeal without knowledge is like expedition to a man in the dark.—Newton.

BREAKING OUT COVERED BODY

Where Scratched It Made Sores. Terrible Itching and Burning Kept Her from Sleeping. Cuticura Remedies Completely Cured Her. No Return.

"Three years ago this winter I had a breaking out that covered my whole body. It itched so it seemed as if I should go crazy. It first came out in little pimples on my back and spread till it covered my whole body and limbs down to my knees, also my arms down to my elbows. Where I scratched, it made sores, and the terrible itching and burning kept me from sleeping. I tried several remedies all to no purpose. Then I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, also the Resolvent, for about four months, and they completely cured me of eczema. I have had a good night's rest after the skin eruption first broke out till I commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had only used them a few days before I could see that they were beginning to heal, and the terrible itching was gone.

"Then I lived in the house at the time I know how I suffered, and how the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me. I never take a bath without using the Cuticura Soap, and I do not believe there are better remedies for my skin disease than the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Sarah Collins, Waukegan, Ill., Mar. 18, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are for sale throughout the world, but to those who have suffered much, best hope and are without fail in any treatment, a liberal sample of each together with 32p. booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp will be mailed free, on application. Address: Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 28, Boston.

AFTON

Afton, May 27.—The Afton Baptist church is beginning to prepare a program for Children's day which will be about three weeks from yesterday. The exact date will be given later. Every one is invited to attend. It promises to be a great deal better than other programs which have been held, as every Sunday school pupil is taking such an interest in the work.

Alto Diefahl is very slightly improved, after an attack of pleurisy. He had an operation a while ago and was gaining rapidly when pleurisy set in.

Work is a necessity if you would develop the best that is in you. It is the divine spur that compels a man to unfold his possibilities by conquering the enemies of success and happiness.

STORM DOES DAMAGE IN CAINVILLE CENTER

Chimneys Blown Down and Shingles Torn Out.—Telephone Service Interrupted.—Auto Tips Over.

(Special to the Gazette.) Cainville Center, May 26.—This vicinity was visited by a severe wind and rain storm last Thursday night, causing quite a little damage. Leslie Townsend had the chimneys all blown off his house and half of the shingles lifted and the wheel was blown off his windmill. Will Miller's granary was blown all to pieces, chicken coops scattered all around and about fifty little chickens killed. Trees suffered quite extensively on all farms. A tree fell across the telephone line on No. 17, putting that line out of commission until Saturday afternoon.

Robert Acheson and family went to Dayton Sunday, making the trip by auto.

Nellie Gardner entertained Miss Fern Cleveland of Evansville from Friday until Monday.

Dave Andrew was confined to the house the past week with a grippa.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Arnold spent Thursday afternoon at George Townsend's.

George Andrew of Harvard was an over Sunday visitor at the parental home.

Mr. Christensen has purchased a new Ford touring car.

Planting corn is well under way. Some plowing is to be done yet for corn.

Walt Thompson was a recent visitor in Harvard.

Auto Accident.

While Mr. and Mrs. Robert Acheson and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Setzer were going to Janesville in the former's automobile Saturday, in going around a corner the machine tipped over.

Fortunately the occupants escaped unhurt. The machine was slightly damaged, the glass broken and a fender disabled, was about the extent of the damage.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Clara Briggs.

George Miller's new house is progressing fine, and when completed will be a modern and up-to-date residence.

Nellie Gardner and Fern Cleveland were callers in Orfordville Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Arnold visited Miss Ella Townsend's school Thursday.

Harry Thompson of Evansville is visiting his cousin, Wallace Thompson.

George Brigham will ship stock from this station today.

Mrs. Lizzie Bennett and daughter Ruth have gone to Vernon county to visit Charles Bennett and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harro Walton were Sunday guests of Warren Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Worthing and son of Evansville, were over Sunday visitors at Will Worthing's.

JOHNSTOWN

Johnstown, May 27.—Miss Auld will close a successful year of school Friday with a picnic at Turtle Lake.

Miss Margaret Morton is improving from her recent illness.

Messrs. and Messdies R. W. Taylor and J. W. Jones spent Sunday with G. Wetmore and family of Millard.

Gus Schumling met with a painful accident Friday by cutting a deep wound in his hand when dressing hay.

T. Sheridan of Janesville, formerly of this place, left for New York City Saturday and on Monday attended the funeral of his uncle who passed away Saturday morning.

Mr. King of Kansas is visiting his daughters, Mesdames Keith and Har-Fls.

MILTON

Milton, May 27.—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Anna Goodrich Davis will be held Tuesday at 2 P. M. from the Seventh-day Baptist church. Pastor Randolph officiating.

The college trustees have purchased six hundred folding chairs to seat the auditorium. The Women's Village Improvement Club secured by subscription nearly two hundred dollars toward paying for the chairs. They are the people who do things and the club solicitors who secured the much needed funds are entitled to the thanks of everybody and the generous donors are entitled to a full share thereof.

R. H. Saunders and D. A. Balcock, clarinet players helped out the M. Atkinson Band at a concert Saturday evening.

Rev. Dr. Randolph will speak at New Auburn next Saturday.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE GROUND FLOOR.

By Howard L. Rann.

Howard L. Rann.

The ground floor is a confidential apartment inhabited by the Ancient and Amphilious Order of Well-footed Suckers. It is the first place a man is taken to when some sugar-coated brother spreads out a mental map and shows him where they are shoveling out gold with a steam dredge. The ground floor proposition is a precise and exact method of cutting the eye-teeth of investors who are not satisfied with 7 per cent semi-annually. Every year thousands of men are let in on the ground floor, and a little later have to be helped into the elevator. Nearly all of the stock sold in this country is issued in the basement, where the light is so poor that nobody notices the fine print until he runs into the outstretched arms of the first assessor. Every hour in the day somebody is hooked firmly in the region of the cash register by ground floor inducements reaching from the curb back to the patent rights for a gold brick. After a man has been let in on the ground floor a few times and been stung in a momentous and irritating manner, he looks upon the humble real estate mortgage with increasing respect and chafes a few to his bosom. One of the most refreshing pleasures of old age is to go to the safe and take out a collection of certificates of stock with green and gold embroidery, and gaze mournfully into the eyes of a guaranteed dividend of 34 per cent the first year. Owing to the pernicious and pestiferous activity of the postoffice department, the dealer in ground floor stock has more time to get ready for the next world than he used to have. It is getting so that a polished gentleman with about half a dozen references cannot induce the holder of the humble paper with non-assessable stock composed of 30 per cent water and 10 per cent bunk without being fitted into a 4 by 4 cell by your Uncle Sam. The only furniture in a ground floor apartment is a fountain pen and a blank note which is always bobbing up and spilling a man's appetite. The man who does not care to get his feet wet will stay out.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, May 27.—Misses Florence Woodling and Frances Lake were passengers to Beloit Saturday for a short visit.

CENTER

Center, May 27.—We are getting an abundance of rain—almost too much for those who want to prepare the corn ground and plant. The storm last Thursday night did quite a little damage. Van. Barnow's windmill was toppled over, two chimneys were blown off of P. H. Fuller's house, and various other slight damages were noticed.

The joint school picnic held at the grove, Saturday, was not as well attended as on previous occasions of like nature owing to the busy time of year and backwardness in getting the corn planted.

Supt. O. D. Antdel and J. F. Carle of Janesville attended the school picnic and both gave pleasing addresses.

BAD AUTO WRECK IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Dr. W. O. Thomas of Clinton narrowly Missed Having Auto Struck by Train on Road Crossing.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Clinton, May 27.—Dr. W. O. Thomas had a very narrow escape Saturday morning at the crossing of Milwaukee street and the North-western railroad. He was answering an urgent call and was running his car at a high speed. It is almost impossible to see a train approaching from the west at this place, and as the doctor looked both ways and saw no sign of a train, he continued his high speed when just as he was about about to run onto the track he saw the 10:00 clock fly nearly upon him. He turned into the ditch and jammed in his emergency brakes. This crossing is a very dangerous one and some kind of a signal should be maintained as between three and four hundred autos cross here every nice Sunday.

Clinton News.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Drake were at Delavan Lake last Friday.

Mrs. Chas. Stark of near Shoplora is critically ill and Dr. W. O. Thomas is critically ill and Dr. W. O. Thomas was called in consultation Saturday morning.

John Heaver was in town Saturday with his nephew John Jacobson. Mr. Heaver's numerous friends will be grieved to know he is totally blind and is unable to distinguish between daylight or darkness.

Conrad Almond Baldwin acting on the advice and suggestion of Supervisor F. J. Barker circulated a paper the first of the week to raise money with which to purchase the regulation parade flag for the Aids Ballman Post G. A. R. The flag was received Thursday and is a beauty with carrying belt, socket and staff.

The old flag was presented to the post by W. E. Dresser's mother in 1861 and only had 38 stars.

Andrew Peterson went to Chicago Saturday morning to visit his son for a few days.

John Wilson left Saturday for Sweden to visit his aged parents.

Edwin Peterson came out from Milwaukee Sunday morning by auto to visit his mother and sister north of town.

Dr. Petty's mother returned to her home at Mount Carroll, Illinois, Saturday afternoon.

Rev. Triggs of the Methodist church preached the annual memorial sermon to the old soldiers Sunday morning.

Mrs. Chas. Benn of School street is on the sick list.

S. J. Pelz has sold his tinning and plumbing business to F. H. Roeder and is contemplating moving from this village.

WEATHER FAVORABLE TO GROWING PLANTS

Prospects for Early Transplanting of Tobacco Crop Are Reported Satisfactory.

Summer warmth accompanied by plenty of moisture compose the favorable weather conditions for the young tobacco plants growing in the seed beds. With continued warm weather and showers the prospects for an early transplanting of the crop as is usual in this region are all that could be desired.

Growers in this part of the state can hardly expect as large an average to be planted during the first weeks of June as was the case last season. The continued cold waves during the early spring after the plants had been sown prevented any possibility of early plants. It is also reported that the heavy rains have been responsible for some damage to the plants but it is hardly probable that there will result any permanent loss from that cause.

The favorable weather has been equally good for the growth of weeds in the seed beds and growers have been busy for some days past engaged in one of the most arduous parts of the tobacco culture. Unless weeds are removed from the beds at once, they will seriously blight the growth of the young tobacco plants.

Reports from various parts of the county indicate that the average this season will be normal and about the same as last season. Tobacco ground has been plowed in some places and most of the soil will be turned by the end of another week. The abundant rainfall has kept the ground in good condition so that early plowing was not a necessity.

HAD SERIOUS ACCIDENT SHOOTING SELF IN KNEE.

Charles Rasmussen Residing in North Part of County Accidentally Injured Sunday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

County Line, near Stoughton, May 28.—While out shooting gophers Sunday morning, Charles Rasmussen had the misfortune to trip in such a way that the rifle discharged and the bullet lodged in his knee. Dr. Truison attended him but could not locate the bullet. He will use the X-ray on it.

C. F. McCarthy and family were Sunday visitors at the home of J. M. Sweeney.

Miss Lillian Vinoy called on friends here on Saturday.

C. J. McCarthy visited with his sister, Mrs. D. E. McCarthy in Deloit a part of last week.

Jim Van Luten and Jean Ballard of Evansville, were callers at the George Rasmussen home on Sunday.

Miss Mary Harrott of Center, was a week end visitor at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ford.

Mrs. Nora Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Judd McCarthy were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Earle on Sunday.

Today, The boy rested nicely through the night.

Unbelievable.

"Does your husband lie to you?"
"Goodness, yes. I can't believe him when he talks in his sleep."

Test of Genius.

Of course, it is unfortunate that a corner in pearls should have doubled their price, but most of us don't worry nearly so much about that as about the unpromising prospect of success in our efforts to make the winter and the coal pile come out even.—Indianapolis News.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A CONGRESS ON WHEELS.

By A. W. MACY.

The Continental congress which had charge of affairs during the Revolution had no fixed habitation. In September, 1774, and also in May, 1776, it met at Philadelphia. In December, 1776, came the first rumor of General Howe's approach. A panic seized on congress, and it fled precipitately to Lancaster.

Howe did not come, and in March, 1777, it ventured back to Philadelphia. In September it became alarmed again and fled, bag and baggage, to Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Pausing only long enough to take breath, it went on to York, in the same state. In July, 1778, it returned to Philadelphia, after the evacuation of the city by the British. It remained there several years, but in June, 1783, it went to Princeton, New Jersey. The following November it met at Annapolis, Maryland. The next year it met at Trenton, New Jersey, and in January, 1776, it went to New York City, where it remained till the adoption and ratification of the Constitution. Although it may be called a congress on wheels, in old days very effective work in the cause of freedom.

Filial Self-Sacrifice.

Asking that a sentence of three years in jail imposed upon his father be imposed upon him and that his own sentence of two years in jail be reversed to his father, a young man broke down in the Criminal court in Baltimore, Md., one recent morning and wept bitterly. The judge complied with the prisoner's unusual request and the had seemed much relieved when given the chance to exchange sentences with his father, giving the elder man the benefit of one year. They were arrested some time ago on a charge of obtaining money through bogus checks passed upon tobaccoists and confectioners. Several days ago they were convicted. Touching by the loyalty of his partner in crime, the older man asked that the original sentence be adhered to, but the judge carried out the reversal.

Dangerous to Motorists.

With the coming of spring, it is said, those who own motor cars in a certain section of Massachusetts operate them with considerably less speed, not, however, always because of the county ordinances or out of consideration for their fellow citizens' safety. On one occasion two motorists were crawling up a highway where lately a friend (then riding with one of them) knew they had formerly gone at top speed. The friend asked why the car was running so slowly. "Why," explained the driver of the car, with perfect civility, "everybody's carrying home garden tools now, and you can't run over a man without risking a puncture."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Leaning Tower's Secret.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa is in no danger of falling. For over eight hundred years it has been inclined to one side, but it is said to be as safe today as when it was built. This is because the workmen found it settling to one side while they were erecting it, so the tower was made accordingly.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ROAD FOR AUTOS WILL SOON BE REALITY; FOUR STATES BUILDING SECTIONS; FOUR MORE BEGIN IN JUNE

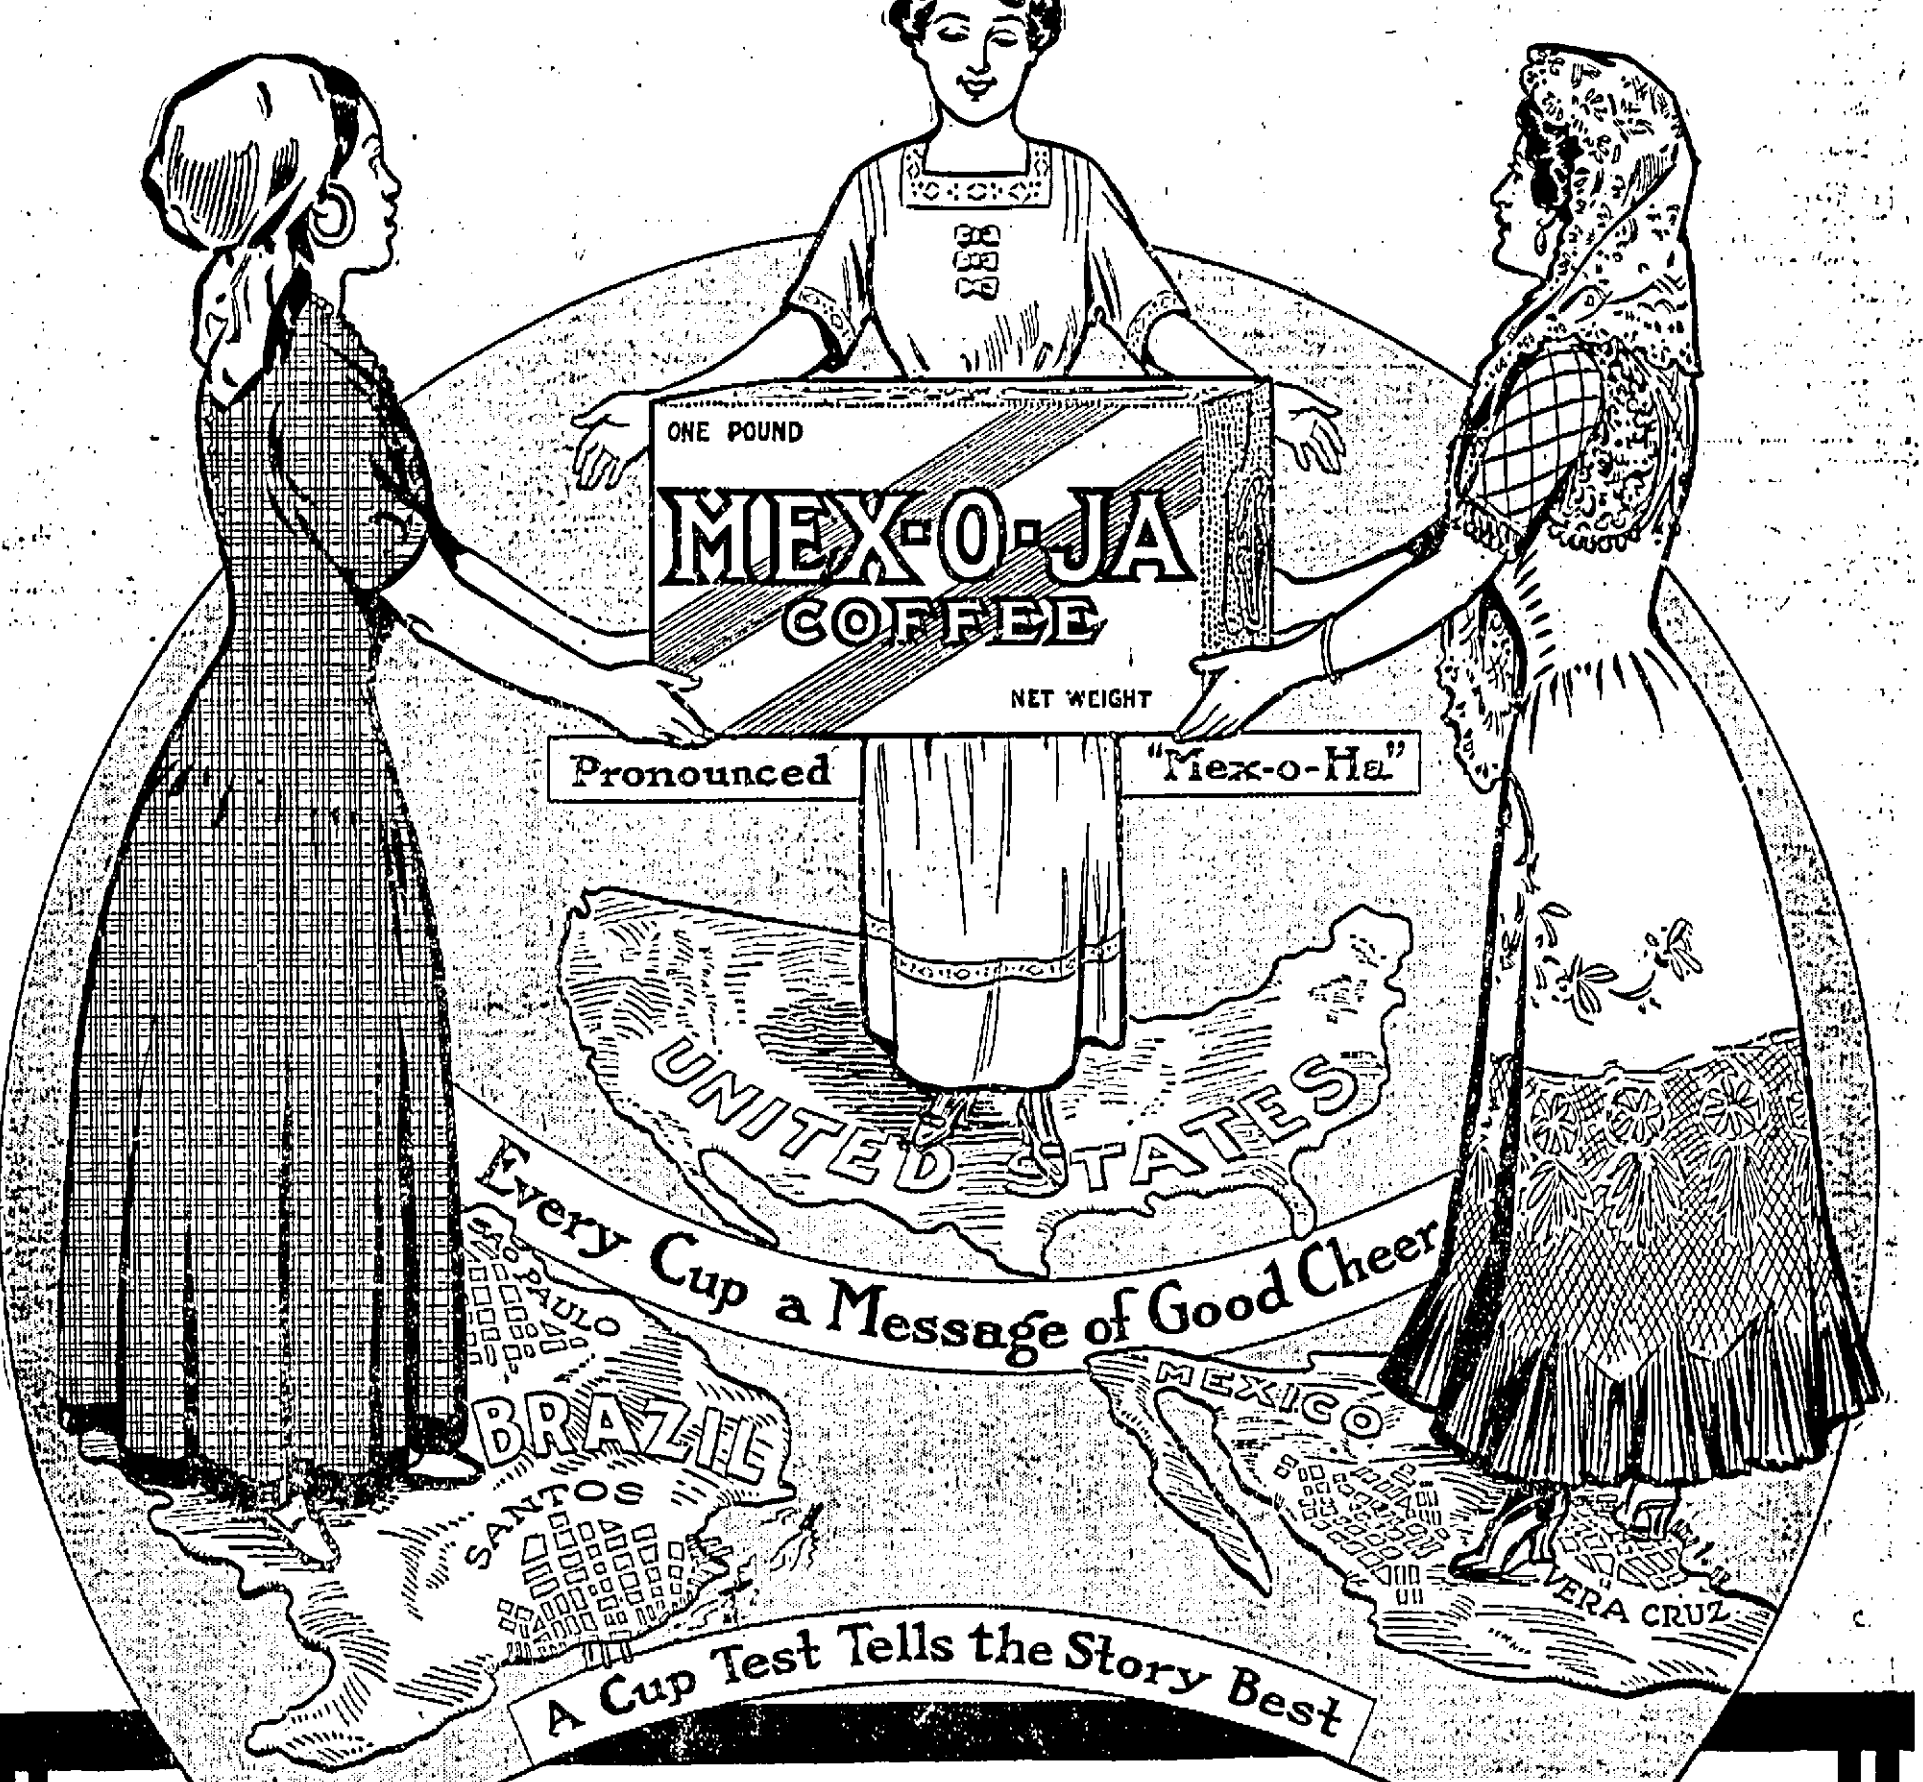

Proposed Auto Route from Los Angeles to New York.

That a great ocean to ocean highway, extending from Los Angeles to New York, will be a reality in the not distant future, now seems assured. The Ocean to Ocean Highway Association has taken an active hand in pushing the matter before the various state legislatures, and automobilists everywhere are doing all they can in aid of the scheme. The portion of the highway that lies through the states of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas will commence work in June.

Harvey Herrick, the famous autist who will take part in the Sweepstakes race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day, recently made the trip from Los Angeles to New York along the line of the proposed highway, a distance of 4,000 miles, in 42 days.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

LOOKING FORWARD.

"Remember Lot's wife."
That unhappy woman, fleeing from the destruction visited upon the cities of the plain, hankered for the deserts she was leaving.

Looking backward, she was transfixed and changed into a pillar of salt, harsh penalty?

Maybe. But the story carries a valuable lesson.

And that lesson is that the golden age is not behind you, in the past, but in front of you, in the future.

Let the dead past bury the past. You may have regrets concerning your failures or your sins, but do not let those regrets get in front of you and impede your going.

Remember Lot's wife.

The old idea that man has fallen from some great eminence to a lower plane of life is giving way to the new idea that he is slowly struggling upward out of imperfection into strength of character and purity of living.

Keep your face to the front.

You are not what you want to be or what you ought to be, but you never will be what you should be or long to be if you go about forever musing on account of your mistakes and lapses. You will be like the prisoner who drags behind him his ball and chain.

Forget the things that are behind.

If you have truly repented of your sins the Omnipotence that has forgiven them has in his mercy forgotten them. Though your sins may have been as scarlet, they shall be white as snow. God is through with them. Why should you tie them on your back and go stumbling?

It takes time to grow a man.

The bird that is slowly unfolding cannot be expected to show forth the sweetness of the full grown flower. Flowers are not made.

They grow.

And so of humans. You are in process of fashioning. The lily is not the less beautiful because its roots are in the mud.

Do not weaken yourself by sorrow for your misdoings. Look not backward to the cities of the plain where world sin abounds, but forward toward the better country toward which you are traveling.

Remember Lot's wife.

About face! Heed not the call of the irretrievable past, and—

Forward march!

WORSE

Cholly—They're saying that the valet whom you discharged yesterday used some plain language to you. Heeey—Mahn! How Jove, it was positively ugly!

THEY MARRY.

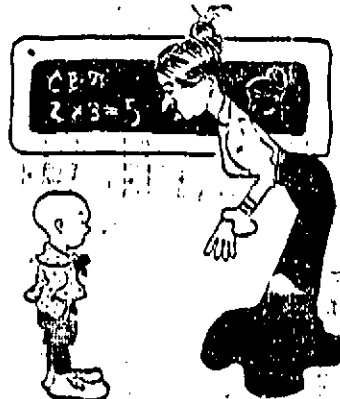

Mrs. Smith—All men are created free and equal.
Smith—Yes; the trouble is they don't stay free.

THE ONLY THING

Mrs. Wilson (inquiring about former cook)—Well, did she break many dishes?
Mrs. Wilson—No; she was so lazy that about the only thing she ever broke was her word.

SOMETIMES

Teacher—Johnny, do you love your enemies?
Johnny—Yes; when I meet 'em all at once.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 28.—(ably more than one half of its value. In a back room of the building, where the fire originated, were stored four tons of tobacco, belonging to Stephen Chas. and Charles Herkimer. It was all destroyed but the loss is covered by insurance. The fire department turned out but could render little assistance on account of the severity of the water. The adjoining property was saved from injury, there being but little wind. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Brief Items: Members of the common council are requested to meet at the council room tomorrow evening to act upon the invitation extended that body to take part in the decoration ceremony. Thursday forenoon. The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the rooms of the association tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, directly after the daily prayer meeting.

UNCLE WALT

BY WALT MASON

I push the mower over the lawn, I push it to and fro, and sigh for happy days long gone when I could shovel snow. I strain like Dolbin in his tug along the mower's track, and divers kinds of ants and bugs are crawling up my back. The chiggers on my legs have fed until those legs are wrecked; the sun beats down upon my head and fries my intellect. Ah, lamentations loud I raise as I over the lawn I go, and weep for happy vanished days, when I could shovel snow! O winter is the joyous time! There's nothing half so sweet! To have your face all leech in time, your whiskers full of steel! No weeds to pull, no grass to mow, no laws to sling or bite, but just to gambol in the snow and throw your feet at night. I now lounge in sun and shade, the cogwheels screech and hum, and bits of wire get in the blade and knock it out of plumb. I howl the tall and luscious grass and grain and shrub and cuss, and say: "Things reach a pretty pass when man must labor thus! 'Tis (to objections never more when wintry blizzards blow; and never will my head be sore when I must shovel snow!"

Advertising rates one-half cent a word, each insertion. Cash with order. Reporter, Waterloo, Iowa.

WIND LAND BUYERS through advertising in the Daily Journal-World, Lawrence, Kansas. The farm lands in Kansas and therefore are high priced. Young farmers are looking for cheaper farms. The Daily Journal-World has a sworn circulation of 5,500 and half of which is in the country and carries a full page of Want Ads. Rates: 1c per word 1 time, 3/4c per word for one week, The World Company, Lawrence, Kansas.

ADVERTISING--The great state of North Dakota, offers unlimited opportunities for business to classified advertisers. The recognized advertising medium is the Fargo Daily and Sunday Courier-News, the only seven day paper in the state and the paper which carries the largest amount of classified advertising. The Courier-News covers North Dakota like a blanket; reaching all parts of the state the day of publication; it is the paper to use in order to get results. Rates: One cent per word first insertion one-half cent per word succeeding insertions; fifty cents per line per month. Address The Courier-News, Fargo, N. D.

IF YOU ARE interested in real estate in the Northwest, you will do well to place an ad in the Want Columns of the Aberdeen Daily News, Aberdeen, S. D., the best advertising medium in this territory. Read every day by more than 25,000 people. Rates: 1 cent per word, first insertion, special rate by the week or month. Write for sample copy.

FARMERS FOR SALE--Southwest Iowa is one of the richest agricultural districts in the world and the Daily Nonpareil is practically the only daily paper read in this territory. It is issued morning, evening and Sunday, and with its 17,000 circulation covers the Gold like a blanket. If you want results from your advertisement, try it. One cent a word for the first insertion, and one-half cent a word for each subsequent insertion. Classified in display, 25c an inch. The Daily Nonpareil, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1912, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"Never! In mind, Billy," said Sinton. "You will know next time, so you can think over it and make up your mind whether you really want to be for you strike."

Sinton went to the barn to put away the tools. He thought Billy it his heels, but the boy lagged on the way. A big, snappy turkey gobbler presented the small intruder in his special preserves, and with spread tail and dragging wings came at him threateningly. If that turkey gobbler had known the sort of things with which Billy was accustomed to holding his own he never would have issued that challenge. Billy accepted instantly. He danced around with stiff arms at his sides and imitated the gobbler. Then came his opportunity and he jumped on the big turkey's back. Wesley heard Margaret's scream in time to see the flying leap and admire his dexterity. The turkey tucked its tail and scampered. Billy slid from its back and as he fell he chuckled wildly, caught the folded tail and instinctively hung on for life. The turkey gave one scream and relaxed its muscles. Then it fell in disfigured defeat to the hay-stalk. Billy scrambled to his feet holding the tail, and his eyes were bulging.

"Why, the blasted old thing came off!" he bawled to Sinton, holding out the tail in amazed wonder.

Sinton, caught suddenly, forgot everything and roared. Seeing which, Billy thought a turkey tail of no account and flung that one high above him, shouting with childish laughter as the feathers scattered and fell.

Margaret, watching, burst into tears. Wesley had gone mad. For the first time in her married life she wanted to tell her mother. When Wesley had waited until he was so hungry he could walk no longer he invaded the kitchen to find a cooked supper waiting on the back of the stove, while Margaret with red eyes unbraided a pair of demoralized white kittens.

"Is supper ready?" he asked.

"It has been for an hour," answered Margaret.

"Why didn't you call me?"

That "us" had too much comradship in it. It irritated Margaret.

"I supposed it would take you even longer than that to fix things decent again. As for my turkey and my poor little kittens they don't matter."

"I am mighty sorry about them, Margaret, you know that. Billy is very bright, and he will soon learn."

"Soon learn?" cried Margaret. "Wesley Sinton, you don't mean to say that you think of keeping that creature here for some time?"

"No! I think of keeping a decent, well behaved little boy."

Margaret set the supper on the table. Seeing the old red cloth, Wesley stared in amazement. Then he understood. Billy appeared around in daylight.

"Ain't that pretty?" he exclaimed. "I wish Jimmy and Belle could see. We, why, we let out one of our hands or off a old dogwoods box, and when we fix up a lot we have newspaper. We ain't ever had a nice red cloth like this."

Wesley looked straight at Margaret, so intently that she turned away, her face flushing. He stacked the dictionary and the geography of the world on a chair and lifted Billy beside him. He heaped a plate generously, cut the food, put a fork into Billy's little flat and made him eat slowly and properly. Billy did his best. Occasionally greed overcame him, and he used his left hand to pop a bite into his mouth with his fingers. These lapses Wesley patiently overlooked and went on with his general instructions. Luckily Billy did not spill anything on his clothing or the cloth. After supper Wesley took him to the barn until he finished the night work. Then he went and sat by Margaret on the front porch. Billy appropriated the hammock and swung by pulling a rope tied around a tree. The very energy with which he went at the work of swinging himself appealed to Wesley.

"Mersey, but he's an active little body," he said. "There isn't a lazy bone in him. See how he works to pay for his fun."

"There goes his foot through it!" cried Margaret. "Wesley, he shall not ruin my hammock!"

"Of course he shall!" said Wesley.

"Wait, Billy, let me show you."

Thereupon he explained to Billy that ladies wearing beautiful white dresses sat in hammocks, so little boys must not put their dirty feet in them. They must just sit in them and let their feet hang down. Billy immediately sat and allowed his feet to swing.

"Margaret," said Sinton after a long silence on the porch, "don't it true that if Billy had been a half starved sore cat, dog or animal of any sort that you would have pitied and helped care for it and been glad to see me get any pleasure out of it?"

"Yes," said Margaret coldly.

"But because I brought a child with an immortal soul there is no welcome."

"That isn't a child. It's an animal."

"You just said you would have welcomed an animal."

"Not a wild one. I meant a tame beast."

"Billy is not a beast," said Wesley hotly. "He is a very dear little boy. Margaret, you've always done this church going and Bible reading for this family. How do you reconcile that suffer little children to come unto me with the way you are treating Billy?"

Margaret arose. "I haven't treated that child. I have only let him alone. I can barely hold myself. He needs the bide tanned about off him."

"If you'd cared to look at his body you'd know that you couldn't find a place to strike without cutting into a raw spot," said Sinton. "Besides, Billy has not done a thing for which a child should be punished. He is only full of life, no training and with a boy's love of mischief. He is just a little little chap, and I love him."

"Oh, good heavens!" cried Margaret, going into the house as she spoke.

CHAPTER XI.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Sinton Clash Over Billy.

SINTON sat still. At last Billy, tired of the swing, came to him and leaned his slight body against the big knee.

"Am I going to sleep here?" he asked.

"Sure you are," said Sinton.

"Where can he sleep?" he asked Margaret.

"I'm sure I don't know," she answered.

"Oh, I can sleep in any place," said Billy, "on the floor or anywhere. Home I sleep on my cot on a store box, and Jimmy and Belle sleep on the store box too. I sleep between them so I don't roll off and crack my head. Ain't you got a store box and a old cot?"

Sinton arose and opened a folding lounge. Then he brought an armload of clean horse blankets from a closet.

"These don't look like the nice white bed a little boy should have, Billy," he said, "but we'll make them do. This will heat a store box all hollow."

Billy took a long leap for the lounge. When he found it bounced he proceeded to bounce until he was tired. By that time the blankets had to be refolded. Wesley had Billy take one end and help, while both of them seemed to enjoy the job. Then Billy lay down and curled up in his clothes like a little dog. But sleep would not come. Finally he sat up. He stared around restlessly. Then he arose, went to Sinton and leaned against his knee. Sinton picked up the boy and folded his arms around him. Billy sighed in rapturous content.

"Think bed feels so lost like," he said.

"Jimmy always jabbed me on one side and Belle on the other, and so I know I was there."

Billy slid from Sinton's arms and walked toward Margaret until he reached the middle of the room. Then he stopped and at last sat on the floor. Finally he lay down and closed his eyes. "This feels more like my bed; it only Jimmy and Belle was here to crowd up a little so it wasn't so alone like."

"Won't I do, Billy?" asked Sinton in a husky voice.

Billy moved restlessly. "Seems like—seems like—toward night as if a body got kind of lonesome for a woman person—like her."

Billy indicated Margaret. "You don't like boys, do you?" he questioned.

"I like good boys," said Margaret.

Billy was at her knee instantly. "Well, say, I'm a good boy," he announced joyously.

"I do not think boys who hurt helpless kittens and pull out turkeys' tails are good boys."

"Yes, but I didn't hurt the kittens," explained Billy. "They got mad 'bout other. I didn't 'pose they'd act like that. And I didn't pull the turkey's tail. I let hold on to the first thing I grabbed, and the turkey pulled. He turned to Sinton. "You tell her. Didn't the turkey pull? I didn't know his tail was loose, did I?"

"I don't think you did, Billy," said Sinton.

Billy stared into Margaret's cold face. "Sometimes at night Belle sits on the floor and I lay my head in her lap. I could pull up a chair and lay my head in your lap—like this, I mean." Billy pulled up a chair, climbed on it and laid his head on Margaret's lap. Then he shut his eyes again. Margaret could have looked little more repulsed if he had been a snake.

Billy was soon up.

"My, but your lap is hard," he said.

"And you are a good deal fatter 'n' Belle, too." He slid from the chair and came back to the middle of the room.

"Oh, but I wish my pa wasn't dead!" he cried. The floor broke and Billy screamed in desperation.

Out of the night a soft, warm young figure flashed through the door and with a swoop caught him in her arms. She dropped into a chair, nestled him closely and dropped her fragrant breast over his little bullet-eyed red one and rocked softly as she crooned over him:

"Billy, boy, where have you been? Oh, I have been to seek a wife. She's the joy of my life."

But, then, she's a young thing, and she can't leave her mammy!"

Billy gripped her with a death grip. Elvora wiped his eyes, kissed his face, away and sang.

"Do you love me tight as that?" he questioned blissfully.

"Yes, unshakable and bushels," said Elvora. "Better than any little boy in the whole world."

Billy looked at Margaret. "She don't" he said. "She don't want me here 't all."

Elvora smothered his face against her breast and rocked.

"You love me, don't you?" he said.

"I will if you will go to sleep."

"Every single day you will give me your dinner for the bologna, won't you?" said Billy.

"Yes, I will," replied Elvora. "But you will have no good lunch as I do after this. You will have milk, eggs, chicken, all kinds of good things, little pies and cakes, maybe."

Billy shook his head. "I am going back home soon as it is light," he said. "She don't want me. She thinks I'm a bad boy. She's going to whip me—like he lets her. She said so. I heard her. Oh, I wish he hadn't died! I want to go home." Billy shivered again.

Mrs. Comstock had started to walk slowly and meet Elvora. The girl had been so late that her mother reached the Sinton gate and came up the path until the picture inside became visible. Elvora had told her about Sinton taking Billy home. Mrs. Comstock had some curiosity to see how Margaret bore the unexpected addition to her family. Billy's voice, raised with excitement, was plainly audible. She could see Elvora holding him and hear his excited wail. Sinton's face was drawn and haggard, and Margaret's set and defiant. A very imp of poverty entered the breast of Mrs. Comstock and thumped there:

"Totty, totty," she said as she suddenly appeared in the door. "Worst if I ever heard a man making sounds like that before!"

Billy ceased suddenly. Mrs. Comstock was tall, angular, and her hair was prematurely white, for she was only thirty-six, though she looked fifty. But there was an expression on her usually cold face that was attractive just then, and Billy was in search of attractions.

"Do you like boys?" he questioned.

"If there is anything I love it is a boy," said Mrs. Comstock assuringly. Billy was on the floor.

"Do you like dogs?"

"Yes, almost as well as boys. I am going to buy a dog just as soon as I can find a good one."

Billy swept toward her with a whoop. "Do you want a boy?" he shouted.

Katharine Comstock stretched out her arms and gathered him in.

"Of course I want a boy!" she rejoiced.

"Maybe you'd like to have me?" offered Billy.

"Sure I would," triumphed Mrs. Comstock. "Any one would like to have you. You are just a real boy, Billy."

"Will you take Snap?"

"I'd like to have Snap almost as well as you."

"Mother!" breathed Elvora imploringly. "Don't! Oh, don't! He thinks you mean it!"

"And so I do mean it," said Mrs. Comstock. "I'll take him in a jiffy. I throw away enough to feed a little tyke like him every day. His chatter would be great company while you are gone. Snap soon can be purfed with right food and bath, and as for Snap I meant to get a bulldog, but possibly Snap will serve just as well. All I ask of a dog is to bark at the right time. I'll do the rest. Would you like to come and be my boy, Billy?"

Billy leaned against Mrs. Comstock, reached his arms around her neck and gripped her with all his puny might. "You can whip me all you want to," he said. "I won't make a sound."

Mrs. Comstock held him closely and her hard face was softening. Of that there could not be a doubt.

"You like boys?" exclaimed Billy, and his head dropped against Mrs. Comstock in unspoken content.

"Yes, and if I don't have to carry you the whole way home we must start right now," said Mrs. Comstock. "You are going to be asleep before you know it."

"Billy, are you going to leave without even saying goodby to me?" asked Sinton, with a great gulp in his throat. Billy held tight to Mrs. Comstock and Elvora.

"Goodby!" he said casually. "I'll come and see you some time."

Wesley Sinton gave a smothered sob and strode from the room.

Mrs. Comstock started for the door, dragging at Billy as Elvora pulled back, but Mrs. Sinton was before them, her eyes flashing.

"Kato Comstock, you think you are mighty smart, don't you?" she cried.

"I ain't in the lunatic asylum, where you belong, anyway," said Mrs. Comstock. "I am smart enough to tell a dandy boy when I see him, and I'm good and glad to get him. I'll love to have him!"

"Well, you won't have him!" exclaimed Margaret Sinton. "That boy is Wesley's. He got him and brought him here. You can't come in and take him like that. Let go of him!"

Wesley Sinton appeared behind Margaret in the doorway, and she turned to him. "Make Kato Comstock let go of our boy!" she demanded.

"Billy, she wants you now," said Wesley Sinton. "She won't whip you, and she won't let any one else. You can have stacks of good things to eat, ride in the carriage and have a great time. Won't you stay with us?"

Billy drew away from Mrs. Comstock and Elvora.

He faced Margaret, his eyes shrewd with unchildish wisdom. "Necessity had taught him to strike the hot iron, to drive the hard bargain."

"Can I have Snap to live here anyway?" he demanded.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

Mastication at Restaurants.

Selecting three restaurants, representing the rich, the industrial and the poorer classes, and observing the habits of mastication of fifteen persons, it was found that the average number of chews was a little more than five, a very bad showing. Mashed potatoes and fresh bread, which need more chewing than meat, were chewed only about half as much. Those who were eating alone seemed to chew better than those who were in company. Probably a fair average number of chews would be 20. If one finds that he chews less than this he should give conscious attention to it until the habit of chewing twenty times is established without conscious attention. The natural incentive to proper mastication should be the taste of the food; and that should be the simple, natural taste, not due to spices or condiments, which develop an unnatural habit and interfere with the normal stimulation that actuates the secretion of the gastric juices which Pavlov has discovered to be necessary for each particular food.

WIFE'S HEALTH RESTORED

Husband Declared Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Would Restore Her Health, And It Did.

Ashland, Ky. — "Four years ago I seemed to have everything the matter with me. I had female and kidney trouble and was so bad off I could hardly rest day or night. I doctored with all the best doctors in town and took many kinds of medicine but nothing did any good until I tried your wonderful remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband said it would restore my health and it has."

Mrs. MAY WYATT, Ashland, Ky.

There are probably hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been afflicted by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve women's sufferings.

Read What Another Woman Says:

Camden, N. J. — "I had female trouble and a serious displacement and was tired and discouraged and unable to do my work. My doctors told me I never could be cured without an operation, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am cured of that affliction and have recommended it to more than one of my friends with the best results."

Mrs. Fairchild's Distinction.

Mrs. George W. Fairchild is among the best gowned women in the congressional set in Washington. One of her dinner gowns is a model on which the ceremonial robes of the summer will be built. It is a trained robe of heavy cream satin, with panels of blue chiffon extending back, front and on the sides from the low-cut bodice and ending at the hem in tassels of crystal and cut steel beads. The diamond necklace which Mrs. Fairchild wears with many of her ceremonial gowns follows the prevailing style in resembling a delicate pattern of lace. It is about three inches in width and fits as snugly as a glove.

LASSEES A MAD DOG WITH A CLOTHESLINE

Boy Scout Captures Animal Chased by Police and a Big Crowd.

New York.—Several hundred men and women on the Williamsburg plaza of the Williamsburg bridge had a terrifying experience when a big yellow and white mongrel dog ran yelping and snapping into the crowd, followed by two policemen with revolvers, who stopped every few feet, took aim and seemed about to fire. The crowd was uncertain which was the more dangerous, the dog or the armed cops chasing it. Three persons were bitten before the animal was killed.

The dog first appeared in the high-class neighborhood at Nass street and Bedford avenue, where it did a whirling dervish act, indicating that it might be mad or at least a keen sufferer from flea or any one of a hundred fits neglected canines get. A man told the Clymer street police that if they wanted to save Williamsburg from an epidemic of hydrophobia they had better get on the job and corral the dangerous beast.

Lieutenant Lyman picked two of his best pistol shots, Policemen Geo. Bender and John Stantowitz. They chased their quarry to Nass street and 125th avenue. Soon 100 men were chasing the dog, the policeman trying hard to get a shot at the beast, but not daring to fire for fear of hitting somebody.

The dog wound up in a doorway at 173 Division avenue. A council of war was held, and while it was on four boy scouts appeared. One of them had his mother's clothesline made into a lasso.

"Give me that rope, sonny," said Policeman Bender.

"What for?" asked the boy, drawing back.

"I want to lasso that dog," said the cop.

"Want him lassoed, sure?" asked the scout, at once coiling his rope. Then before the astonished officer could say a word he skillfully whirled the line and dropped it neatly over the yelping dog.

The police finished the job.

KILLS BEAR ON LONELY TRAIL

Girl in Her Teens Has a Battle With Bruin and Comes Off Victorious.

Port Townsend, Wash.—On a lonely mountain trail in Chatham county, Miss Mary Schmiltz, a girl in her teens, had a battle with a bear, in which she came out victorious. Miss Schmiltz was employed at the Hotel Morrymeyer, and decided to visit her parents who lived 30 miles away.

She started out on the journey foot armed with a revolver, loaned by one of the guests. She had proceeded 15 miles when she sighted a bear in the trail, coming toward her. She shouted, thinking that the animal would take to the bushes, but instead it continued to advance. She opened fire.

After several shots the bear left the trail, giving her the right of way. When she reached the place where the bear took to the bushes she found blood and on investigation she found the animal a few yards from the trail lying dead as a result of one of her shots.

Luck.

There would be lots of smart men in the world if the good luck would break over.—Atchison Globe.

Charles E. Hughes.

Charles Evans Hughes is a man who doesn't shirk his duty. He goes right ahead with the business in hand and does it. If the call of the Tolson Trust needs breaking up he is right on the job to help do it; and so forth, and so forth. But Hughes doesn't work all the time. He insists on a little recreation occasionally. He doesn't get it by going out and having a game of ball with the boys, nor yet again by donning the padded mitts. At the close of the day's work he will go into his library, get a book of Latin verse, like out into some quiet woods, and there, seated beside some gurgling brook proceed to read said book of verse in the original. In the above picture our artist has caught Mr. Hughes devouring Theocritus.

What is the Keynote to good manners?
(ANSWER)

First to Utilize Spectacles.
Roger Bacon knew lenses, and that they were useful for near vision in the old. For optical purposes, they appear to have been ground first about 1285 by a certain Salvino degli Armati, said to have died in 1317. A monk of Pisa, Alexander della Spina, who died in 1313, also has been credited with the invention of spectacles and with the promotion of their use.

The All-Purpose Household Soap of Northern Europe Since 1753

FOR A CENTURY
American soap-makers have been trying to hit on the formula of the famous green soap of Northern Europe. All their attempts have failed. That formula defies discovery. Passed down from father to son since 1753, its secret is still known only to the descendants of its originator. Only because our Chief Chemist is himself a member of that family can we now offer to you here in America that greatest of all soap formulas in the shape of

Old Country GREEN SOAP

"Old Country" is a green soft soap for universal use in household cleaning

"Old Country" is green, and it stays green under all conditions. That proves it's absolutely pure—proves that it is strictly neutral with no free alkali or free acid in it. This makes "Old Country" in spite of its all-purpose household efficiency, positively beneficial for the hands.

"Old Country" is soft. Its consistency is that of jelly. It can be measured for each using. No part of it is ever wasted. "Old Country" is soap—soap, and nothing but soap. No filler, has been added to it. No rosin, no packing-house grease or water-tight weight. Just straight, pure vegetable oils, combined by a formula which makes it "The Wizard Soap of the World."

"Old Country" is for universal use in household cleaning. There is nothing that will win you your grocer has it. Just mention "Old Country" to him over the phone. Get at least a 10c can today, and say good-bye to half your cleaning work.

"Oh, I say," remarked the bluffer to his brother drummers in an endeavor to reawaken interest, "did you chaps hear that old Goldman, the proprietor of the Slowtown station restaurant, has just died?" "Has he?" drawled Shackle, un sympathetically. "To whom did he leave the sandwiches?"—New York Globe.

Can't Understand It.
Many a wife is seriously wondering why her mother-in-law ever thought no woman was good enough for her boy.

Never Sells His Horses.
It is the proud boast of Senator Martin of New Jersey that in all the years he has been farming he has never sold a horse. When a horse gets too old to work he retires it on full rations and lets it just loaf around the pasture until it dies.

Injurious Infantile Fashion.
Out of every 100 recruits in Russia, 62 have flattened skulls, the outcome, apparently, of the very tight dressing of the baby's head in its first months of life.

Against Bogus Cripples.
The lunatic and lame beggars of Paris streets have formed an association for the defense of their privileges against the impostors who encroach on their trade. The president has been received by M. Bourgeois, the minister of public works, who promises to consider their demand of a certificate after medical examination. This will hinder, they maintain, an honorable profession from being dragged by bogus cripples, who are seldom brought to justice.

Fortune.
"An aim in life is the only fortune worth the having, and it is not to be found in foreign lands, but in the heart itself."—Robert Louis Stevenson.

F. R. Weiss, 1006 Forest St., Madison, Wis., had an acute attack of kidney trouble and knew at once what would cure him. He says: My back ached and I was miserable, but I took Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days I was cured and have had no return of the trouble. Foley Kidney Pills did it. Druggist Drug Co.

Janesville Park Association OPENS SEASON WITH MOTORCYCLE RACES MAY 30

With the promise of some of the best riders in the state it is probable that some of the state records for a mile dirt track will be broken on Decoration day, at the Fair Grounds.

Hamilton, of the Indian Camp, promises to be one of the sensations of the day in the various races in which he is entered.

Fisk of Beloit, who holds the best record for last year's meet here and who is one of the best and cleanest riders this state has ever produced, will also be seen in several races for which he is practicing.

Stevens of Madison, who was with us last August, comes again this year with his racing team which is the best in the business.

Madison will also furnish another young phenomenon in the person of Ester who is a star among the speed devils.

Mike Corrello of Chicago, who, to date, has never lost a race, will be given a run for his life next Thursday and will have to put his Indian to the limit if he carries away any of the prizes.

With Hamilton, Corrello, Fisk, Stevens and many others entered you will be held busy from start to finish.
